River Cottage chef is new councillor

Anders Larsson
Chief reporter | anders@viewnews.co.uk

THE award-winning head chef at River Cottage HQ is Axminster's newest town councillor.

Gelf Alderson was co-opted onto Axminster Town Council on Monday, November 13th, becoming the third thirtysomething to join the council in a short period of time.

The 36-year-old replaces the long-serving Mervyn Symes, who resigned in September.

Councillor Alderson, who was born in Worcester, won the two-horse co-option race 11-2 against local candidate Sarah Birnie.

He has been the head chef at River Cottage for five years, having previously had the same role at Killerton House in Broadclyst.

His successes include winning the the Special Achievement Award for his individual contribution to environmental, social and economic sustainability at The Footprint Awards in 2016.

When asked why he decided to try to become a town councillor, he said: "I've been involved with a few local charity events like Yarty Party and Light Up Axminster, and I do the cooking for HALFF at the youth club."

"I've lived in Axminster for four years and it is nice to be involved with the community."

"I know Mervyn and Dave Moore (a new councillor) and it was Mervyn's idea of getting younger people involved."

Councillor Alderson aims to "try to help improve the town".

The town council may be limited in its powers but the new councillor says it is important to keep an eye on issues like the bypass/relief road and the proposed closure of sixth form at Axe Valley Academy.

He also thinks it is important to keep hold of the social care and other facilities that do exist, like the library and so on.

He said: "They seem to be stripped out quite efficiently at the moment."

"You can whinge as much as you like, but unless you get involved there is nothing you can do."

Because of his work, Councillor Alderson brings solid knowledge of licensing issues to the town council.

Back in August, the co-option of thirtysomethings Aimee Seward and Dave Moore was described as "a much-needed breath of fresh air" by the mayor, Jeremy Walden.

Councillor Alderson now joins that rank of new and younger councillors.

Hospiscare shop wins Poppy Appeal window competition for the second year in a row

THE Hospiscare shop in Axminster has defended its Axminster Royal British Legion Poppy Appeal Shop Window Competition title from last year.

It is the first time someone has won the top prize in consecutive years.

The window display was created by shop manager Anna Proszowska, and had a nursing theme.

It was based on the story of Hospiscare shop volunteer Yvonne Knox's grandparents, William and Eliza Bunce.

William was a gunner and served in the Royal Garrison Artillery during World War I, while Eliza worked as a nurse during the early years of the war. She died in 1917.

The first prize was presented on November 14th and Ms Proszowska said: "I'm so proud, and I have an idea for next year."

The RSPCA shop was the runner-up, followed by Charity Togs in third.

Seventeen shops took part in the competition, which started in 2012.

Previous winners are McKinlays (2012), Cloud-Nine (2013), ARC (2014), RSPCA (2015) and Hospiscare (2016).

Ambulance service chief executive under pressure after calls for his resignation

SOUTH Western Ambulance Service's (SWASFT) chief executive, Ken Wenman, is urging the GMB union to talk to the trust following an open letter from staff calling for his resignation.

In the letter, staff who are members of GMB apologise to families, friends and the community for not getting to patients on time due to an over-stretched service, feeling unsupported by SWASFT and ultimately calling on Mr Wenman to quit.

The group say they are "struggling to maintain a crumbling service deliberately being underfunded by the government and made worse when those over pressured resources and stressed staff are then badly managed".

GMB, which is supporting the staff, say that the trust is failing to address major issues and the toll from not doing so is having an enormous effect upon increasing numbers of staff.

Gary Palmer, GMB regional NHS campaign organiser, said: "Although we are unfortunately regularly being contacted by members and concerned staff over any number of growing issues at SWAST, we felt this recent letter on behalf of a group of GMB members particularly summoned up the general despair and frustration many staff currently feel from working within a service and role they love.

"The trust are failing to address major issues and the toll from not doing so is having an enormous effect upon increasing numbers of staff, as they consider whether they wish to remain within this particular ambulance service or not.

"GMB and its members being ignored by the chief executive and the trust is one thing, but their failing to be able to recognise the numerous issues and the effect they have upon many front line ambulance professionals within its own organisation and the patients they ultimately serve, means that Mr Wenman has clearly not only lost touch or interest with his employees and the service, but has now also lost their respect as well.

"It is time for the chief executive to stand down and for any replacement to be clear on wanting to do more to protect and support the trust's most valuable resource; its own staff."

However, Mr Wenman said that they recognise the pressures and are working to improve these. He said: "Our staff are the most valuable asset. We simply cannot provide the critical care to our patients without them.

"We absolutely recognise the pressure that they are under and we are working hard with them and with Unison, the recognised union, to improve resource levels, to improve our response to patients and to improve the health and wellbeing of our staff."

Mr Wenman added: "We are proud of the way that we work closely with all union representatives on behalf of our staff, including GMB, and so it is disappointing that these comments have gone to the media, rather than to us here at the trust, especially given the meetings that we have recently hosted with GMB representatives where such concerns could have been raised.

"We would urge the GMB to re-engage and talk to us directly."

Tony Fox, chairman of SWASFT, said there was always more to be done.

He said: "Along with the rest of the NHS, ambulance services across the country are experiencing significant pressure.

"So it was particularly pleasing that in the last national staff survey, SWASFT had the best results across all ambulance trusts in the country for their engagement with staff, for the health and wellbeing of staff and for the resources available.

"We accept that there is always more to be done and we will continue to work closely with our colleagues and listen and respond to their needs.

Tony added: "I would like to say thank you to all our people for the excellent job they do in difficult circumstances.

"I would also encourage everyone to take part in the latest

Five hurt in Upottery collision

A TWO-vehicle collision – on the A303 between Upottery and Yarcombe turnings – left five people injured, three seriously.

Emergency services were called to the A303 at 4.30pm on Sunday, November 26th following the head-on collision between a Peugeot Partner vehicle and a BMW 218.

A spokesperson for Devon and Cornwall Police said: "Two women in the Peugeot were taken to Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital.

"The driver, aged 64 and from France, sustained serious multiple injuries and the passenger, aged 79 and from Middlesex, sustained injuries which are described as life-threatening.

"Three people from the BMW were taken to Musgrove Park Hospital in Taunton, one with a serious leg injury."

The road was closed for seven-and-a-half hours while officers carried out an examination of the scene.

Police are appealing to anyone who witnessed the collision to contact them on 101@dc.police.uk or by phoning on 101 (asking for Devon and Cornwall Police), quoting log number 0567 of 26/11/17.

Village shop and school teams up to help food bank

HAWKCHURCH Primary School and Hawkchurch Community Shop teamed up to collect food which they donated to Axminster Food-bank.

A grateful Aynsley Jones of Axminster Food Bank said: "This is the third year of running the collection, which they do for the whole of October."

In-date food can be donated at Coop (West Street), Tesco and Axminster Health and Wellbeing Centre, which runs the food bank.

Foods needed are: tinned soup, vegetables, fruit, rice pudding, custard, meat and tuna, UHT Milk, coffee, tea, squash, juice, cereals, rice, pasta, pasta sauces, jam, marmalade, biscuits, crackers, reduced salt and sugar items

There is also a need for toilet rolls, sanitary products and washing powder.

Hospiscare wins award again

ANNA Proszowska is pictured with the Hospiscare charity shop's window display, which won the Axminster RBL window display competition for the second year running.

This year, the display was a tribute to Hospiscare shop volunteer Yvonne Knox's grandparents.

Like so many couples, William and Eliza Bunce were separated by World War I.

Gunner William John Bunce served in the Royal Garrison Artillery and was awarded the 1914 Star with Clasps and Roses – a medal for soldiers who served under live enemy fire. His wife Eliza, with whom he had four young children, worked as a nurse during the initial years of the war but sadly died in 1917.

See front page for full story on this year's window display competition

■ UNITED Reformed Church in Axminster was full of colour when handmade blankets were on display.

The blankets were made by members of the church's craft group from donated knitting fibres for needy children in eastern Europe and refugees.

The church works with a charity called Love in a Box, and the blankets were on display for two days – November 9th and 10th – before being handed over to the charity for transport overseas.

Some of the church members involved are photographed with a sample of blankets.

Wildlife trust launches 'Adopt-a-Beaver' scheme

DEVON Wildlife Trust has launched the Adopt-a-Beaver scheme to help raise funds for the River Otter Beaver Trial.

The five-year trial is scheduled to run until 2020, working to gather evidence on the beavers' impacts on the landscape and wildlife, infrastructure and farm businesses in the Otter valley.

Introduction of further beavers into the river system is also covered by the project licence from Natural England.

Each virtual adoption includes a soft toy beaver wearing a Devon Wildlife Trust

'Beavers are Back' t-shirt.

The charity's Dan Smith explained: "The beaver soft toy is modelled on the project mascot, Nora, whose name was chosen in a public competition by a shop owner in Sidmouth.

"These beaver soft toys are unique to Devon Wildlife Trust and the River Otter Beaver Trial and are not available anywhere else."

Adopt-a-Beaver packs are available for children and adults for £30.

All packs include the unique-to-Devon beaver soft toy but children's packs also feature a beaver quiz, word-search, maze and colouring sheet.

For an additional £10, the pack also includes a beaver wood chip, gnawed from a Devon tree by one of the beavers living in the county.

These wood chips – which come with a card of authenticity in a presentation box – have been collected from a site where Devon beavers are active.

Beaver gifts are available from www.devonwildlifetrust.org/support-devon-beavers or by calling 01392 279244 or popping in to DWT's headquarters at Crickepit Mill in Exeter, on a weekday.

LYME Bay Winery picked up five awards for its country wines and fruit liqueurs at the Quality Drink Awards, for wine, spirits and beer products on sale in UK grocery outlets.

Receiving a gold for its warming ginger wine and a bronze for its medium sweet peach wine in the Fruit Wine Category, as well as three bronze awards for its ginger liqueur, elderberry & port and cherry brandy, the Shute-based producer was praised for its great tasting products, impressing a judging panel comprised of chefs, food writers, food technologists and restaurateurs on the hunt for the finest flavours, textures and aromas.

Before the awards were announced, guests at the awards ceremony, which was held at the Grosvenor House Hotel in London, got to taste the ginger liqueur in a specially commissioned autumn mimosa, which was created to mark the event in partnership with London-based cocktail consultants Fluid Movement.

Dalwood Fair raises more than £7,000

DALWOOD Fair chairman Kathy Laing welcomed 40 attendees, including committee members, volunteers and supporters, to the AGM in Tuckers Arms.

Fair day was a success, with some 800 plus paying visitors.

In her report, the chairman thanked everyone for all their hard work and commitment, and she especially thanked Martin Farrenden for his generosity in allowing his field to be the venue for the fair.

Treasurer Nick Harrison reported to the AGM that there was £7,150 to distribute to the two named charities and the village beneficiaries. All village organisations and charities hold fair fundraisers throughout the year to ensure the fair is self-funding.

Nick presented the cheques to representatives from the following organisations and charities: Village Hall Trust, £1,240; St Peter's Church, £1,178; Dalwood Recreation Trust, £992; The Reading Room, £930; The Methodist Chapel, £930; The Raft Club, £375; The Badminton Club, £310; The Corrydale Singers, £248.

The two named charities for 2017 – Help for Heroes and Sidmouth Life Boats – each received £350.

A spokesperson for the fair said: "Thank you to everyone who makes Fair Day the success it is. We could not do it without you."

■ MORE than 40 people attended the 70th birthday bash of Musbury & Whitford WI. Members had already done a bit of celebrating during a monthly meeting, but the official party was held at Axe Yacht Club on Tuesday, November 21st.

Christmas quiz at card shop

■ Volunteer Janet Hales with the Cards for Good Causes Christmas Quiz

THE Cards for Good Causes shop at Axminster Heritage Centre is now open for the festive season – and this year is also offering a quiz at £1 per entry.

Quiz forms need to be returned to the shop by the time of closing on December 9th.

All correct entries will be entered into a prize draw with a chance of winning a Sainsbury's luxury hamper or a cash prize.

The object of the quiz is to support all the charities represented at Cards for Good Causes by helping to cover overheads (such as the cost of getting the cards out to more than 300 temporary shops across the country) so that the charities can get back at least 70p in the pound from the sale of their cards.

All the shops are staffed by volunteers who give their time freely to support the good causes.

The Axminster Cards for Good Causes shop is at the Heritage Centre in Silver Street, where you can find a wide selection of cards from 33 different charities, large and small, as well as traditional advent calendars and candles, wrapping paper, gift tags, napkins and stocking fillers.

It is open from Monday to Saturday, 10 am to 4 pm, until Saturday, December 9th.

Coffee and carols at the Guildhall

THE Filling Station is inviting members of the public to an evening of coffee, mince pies and Christmas carols in Axminster Guildhall.

The organisation works to express the Christian faith in an informal way, and the event will take place on Friday, December 1st from 7.30pm.

Organisers said: "We are offering mince pies and fresh coffee as well as the chance to sing your favourite carols and hear a Christmas message by the Rev Clive Sedgewick."

Old court and police station sold

THE former magistrates' court and police station site in Lyme Close, Axminster, has been sold to a developer.

Ownership of the site was split between Devon County Council (DCC) and the police authority, and went on the market earlier this year.

A spokesman for DCC said: "DCC sold their interest in the site.

Anders Larsson
Chief reporter
anders@viewnews.co.uk

"The property was sold on an unconditional basis to a developer so the sale was not subject to planning.

"The property was sold jointly with the police authority, who disposed of the former police station as part of the sale."

The name of the developer and the amount involved was not disclosed.

Axminster Town Council made a failed attempt four years ago to prevent the site being lost for housing by requesting that it was listed as an Asset of Community Value.

The town council hoped to win enough time to decide on a community use for the site and prepare a bid to buy the land under the Community Right to Bid (part of The Localism Act).

But East Devon District Council (EDDC) – the authority keeping the Asset of Community Value list – turned down the application, ruling that "the principal use of the land neither now, nor in the recent past, furthers the social wellbeing or cultural, recreational or sporting interests of the local community."

■ THE Rotary Club of Axminster's popular Festive Friday returns to the town centre on Friday, December 8th.

A varied programme of events and attractions from 5pm till 8pm has been arranged.

The Lyme Regis Town Band will feature with festive music and carols together with Punch and Judy, the Karizma Majorettes, stalls from all the local schools and a number of local charities selling Christmas wares.

There will be mulled wine and mince pies, burgers, tea & coffee and many other offerings on the stalls.

A club spokesperson said: "The highlight of the evening for families and children will be the arrival of Father Christmas on his magnificent sleigh.

"We are grateful to Father Christmas for agreeing to visit us again this year.

"We look forward to many families and children joining us on this traditional festive evening."

Festive Friday returns next week

Axminster's all lit up for Christmas

AXMINSTER town centre was ram-packed for the much-awaited lantern parade and Christmas lights switch-on last Friday.

Organisers estimate that up to 2,500 people were in the town centre just before the lantern parade started at about 5.45pm.

After a few lean years in terms of Christmas lights, the formation of Light Up Axminster had raised expectations – and the new group did not disappoint.

A 35-stall Christmas market opened in the afternoon on Minster Green, providing the perfect setting for what was to come.

The front of the George Hotel building was used to project animations before the lantern parade set off for Trinity Square.

The lights switch-on was performed by Hayley Hearn, the daughter of community stalwart Robin Cross, who died earlier this year.

Speaking after the event, Light Up Axminster's Cindy Furse said: "We would like to say a huge 'thank you' to all of those that have supported us in our first year.

Following Friday evening's fabulous feedback we are so genuinely delighted that the Christmas lights switch-on as well as everything else went down so universally brilliantly.

"There are too many people for us to thank individually here, but we hope that everyone feels that their contributions have been hugely appreciated by ourselves, because they all were, every single one, big or small, young or old."

Light Up A Life service

THE Minster Church in Axminster will host the next Hospiscare Light Up A Life service – on Thursday, November 30th at 7.30 pm.

The series of services takes place annually in the run-up to Christmas, which can be a poignant time of year for those who have been bereaved.

Hospiscare's Karen Turner said: "With a blend of readings, poetry, music and the opportunity to join voices in singing carols, these occasions bring at least as much joy as sadness and are never less than uplifting.

"We invite everyone to come along and join in remembering their loved ones, and you can attend any Light Up A Life service you wish.

"This year's series of services will end on Sunday, December 17th with a service at Exeter Cathedral.

"The Hospiscare Christmas tree is already in place on Cathedral Green, and decked with lights that are being lit at dusk every day until Twelfth Night."

Each year, Hospiscare provides free, specialist care and support for more than 2,500 adults with life-limiting illnesses and their families in Exeter, Mid and East Devon.

If you are not able to attend a service, you can light up a life online.

Visit www.hospiscare.co.uk/lightuplife for more information.

Christmas music at St Gregory's

THE Friends of St Gregory's Church, Seaton, will host two organists playing Christmas music on Saturday, December 2nd, starting at 2pm.

This event will be held in the church and the friends will serve mulled wine and mince pies.

Entry is free, with donations welcome to help care for the church.

A week later, on Saturday, December 9th, between 10am-12noon, it is time for the Christmas fair in St Gregory's Church Centre, Colyford Road.

Organisers promise "delicious drinks and cakes, lovely goodies of glassware, snowmen, wooden crafts, a fabulous array of cakes and preserves".

Musbury craft fayre

MUSBURY Church is to hold its annual Christmas craft fayre in the village hall on Saturday December 2nd from 10am until 1pm.

Parochial church council secretary Kay Short said: "All the tables have been sold and the event promises to provide a variety of crafts, presents for Christmas and other fundraising tables."

"The usual bacon butties will be on sale. Do come and support us as we need funds to just keep the church running from week to week and rely on events like this."

Beer Autumn Show

BECAUSE of an admin error, Pulman's View received the wrong list of prize winners for the 2017 Beer Autumn Show (page 15, Devon editions, November 14th).

The correct list is as follows: Best in Show - Chris Loud, Blackmore Cup - Dave Mutter, Alf Boalch Cup - Dave Mutter, Tucker Cup - Chris Loud, Ewing Cup - John Lang, Geoff Hunt Cup - John Lang, Pot Mum Cup - Keith Legg, Novice Cup - no entry, Barrel of Beer Cup - Barbara Greaves, Floral Cup Yvonne - Trudgen.

Number of entries: Vegetables and apples (11), flower arrangements (11), chrysanthemums (cut) (19), collection of vegetables (4), charms (28), mums (10), photographs (37), cakes (6), chutneys (13), home craft (11), beach art (3). Total: 153.

Plans for air ambulance nighttime landing area at the cricket club

A NIGHTTIME landing spot for Devon Air Ambulance could materialise in Seaton thanks to the town council and local cricket club.

The club and council have submitted a planning application for an emergency nighttime landing light at the cricket club.

If approved, the light will offer the air ambulance a Seaton landing spot when it is dark.

The air ambulance trust has for some time been working to develop a network of what is known as pre-surveyed floodlit community landing sites.

This work is done with the respective communities, hence the involvement of the cricket club and town council.

Councillor Martin Pigott was contacted by two local residents to ask if the town council could get involved. The town council agreed and pledged £1,000 to start the fund rolling.

One of the residents who contacted Cllr Pigott, Amy Catley, entered the Grizzly Cub Run 2017 and, as her father owes his life to the speed of the air ambulance, she was keen to help raise money.

Teaming up with running friends Emma Grigg, Hayley Eate, Laura Kerr and Suzy Eul-Brown to get sponsorship, they managed to raise £2,696.07.

This included a donation of more than £500 from Guy Sweetman of East Devon Sports Therapy.

Anders Larsson

Chief reporter | anders@viewnews.co.uk

Other donations have been made by Seaton Probus Club (£120) and Seaton Development Trust (£653.75).

The town council was given £200 from Axe Valley Runners for the use of the Marshlands Centre during the Grizzly Run, so this money was also put towards the lighting fund.

In addition, the Freemasons of De La Pole Masonic Lodge in Seaton have pledged £1,000.

Councillor Pigott said: "It's amazing how generous the people of Seaton have been.

"Without advertising we have been able to raise more than enough money for the emergency landing lights.

"I would like to thank all the groups who have donated money and especially Mrs Catley for all her efforts.

"I would also like to thank Seaton Cricket Club, especially the chairman Chris Gamwell, for all their help and support."

The lighting would be remote-controlled and only used when the air ambulance has an emergency in Seaton.

Councillor Pigott added: "If any residents of Court Lane, Meadow Road, Mead Way, Valley View, Colyford Road or Summersby Close have any concerns over the lighting, please email me at martinpigott75.mp@gmail.com.

"Hopefully the lighting will not have to be used that often, but it is great to know the lights are there if needed."

■ Hayley Eate, Emma Grigg, Laura Kerr, Amy Catley and Suzy Eul-Brown raised a lot of money for the air ambulance lights

Axminster CONSERVATIVE CLUB LTD

NOW NEWLY REFURBISHED - OFFICIAL OPENING 2ND DECEMBER

The Axminster Conservative Club are pleased to announce the opening of our recently refurbished club

THE CLUB now boasts air-conditioning, a new bar, games room, new refurbished kitchen, toilets and a new stage area to highlight our fortnightly entertainment evenings.

Our official opening night will be held on Saturday, December 2nd, where we are pleased to welcome

Graham Barton from television's 'Homes under the Hammer' to help officiate the opening. The evening will kick off at 8.30pm, with music from 9.00pm followed by a food buffet.

On the opening night we are welcoming new members to join up with a special offer of 13 months for the price of 12 months, which is just £17.00 and includes a joining fee of £2.00. If you wish to take advantage of this opening night offer, but are unable to make the evening to become a member, you can just pop in on a Thursday or Sunday lunchtime and speak with a committee member or steward who can sign you up.

The club hosts multiple teams for darts, skittles and crib matches and holds a weekly meat draw. The lovely sized function room is also available to hire for both members and non-members. Also the new lounge being close to the Church is convenient for wakes. There is always food available on Market Days and the Sunday Lunches are becoming very popular. If you fancy a coffee there is always some available!

The history of the club

THE AXMINSTER Conservative Club was formed sometime in the early 1890s and was enrolled into the Association of Conservative Clubs (ACC) when the ACC was formed in 1894, when they were given the membership number of 247. The ACC is the largest association of political clubs - there are an estimated 1,100 clubs in UK today!

The club occupied various premises in the town before acquiring part of the old Carpet Factory in 1912 where it resides today.

The club was able to purchase the adjacent Axminster Registry

Office in the early 1950s which then formed part of the bar area, but has since been cleverly converted into the storeroom and cellar, with a secondary bar above in the function room on the first floor.

Axminster CONSERVATIVE CLUB LTD

NOW NEWLY REFURBISHED - OFFICIAL OPENING 2ND DECEMBER

IN THE 1970s a rear extension was added to increase the lounge area and to house above it the full sized snooker table, which, in its quiet location, is ideal for the serious players. At the same time the club was also able to provide a modern ladies and gents toilet facility.

In 1985 the club underwent a major refit with new carpets, ceiling, and furniture, and the bar was moved, creating a little space for a small kitchen. This had remained pretty much the same until today.

With modern technology and thinking we have been able to increase the bar and lounge areas. This consists of a small stage for our frequent entertainment evenings whilst also opening up the back of the lounge to fit in our darts and pool teams with fruit machine and TV. The new extended kitchen and modernised toilets meet the strict environmental health regulations, thereby satisfying the needs of all our 297 strong current membership.

Axminster Conservative Club is very proud to own this Grade II listed building for over 100 years and has worked very closely with East Devon County Council Planning and Licensing Departments to ensure and agree that every single item involved in the 2017 complete refurbishment complies with current regulations.

Christmas Parties & Festive Menus

IN SOUTH SOMERSET

TURKEY, BACON & CHORIZO BOMBE

INGREDIENTS

8 PORK & HERB SAUSAGES OR 500g SAUSAGE MEAT
3 GARLIC CLOVES, FINELY GRATED
1 SMALL PACK PARSLEY, ROUGHLY CHOPPED
32 RASHERS SMOKED STREAKY BACON
1.6KG BONELESS, SKINLESS TURKEY BREASTS

1 TBSP SUNFLOWER OIL
6 PIECES COOKING CHORIZO
1 TBSP MAPLE SYRUP
1 EGG

METHOD

1. SQUEEZE THE SAUSAGES INTO A BOWL OR TIP IN THE SAUSAGE MEAT. ADD THE GARLIC, PARSLEY AND EGG, AND SQUISH THROUGH WITH YOUR FINGERS TO MIX EVERYTHING WELL.
2. LAY A LARGE SHEET OF BAKING PARCHMENT ON YOUR WORK SURFACE. USE THE BACON TO MAKE A LARGE RECTANGULAR LATTICE, WEAVING THE RASHERS IN AND OUT OF EACH OTHER. PLACE A PIECE OF BAKING PARCHMENT ON TOP, THEN USE A ROLLING PIN TO ROLL OVER THE BACON AND SEAL THE RASHERS TOGETHER.
3. BUTTERFLY THE TURKEY BREAST BY CUTTING INTO ONE SIDE OF IT SO YOU CAN OPEN IT LIKE A BOOK. COVER WITH CLING FILM AND USE A MEAT Mallet OR ROLLING PIN TO GENTLY BASH IT OUT INTO A RECTANGLE THAT FITS INSIDE THE BACON, WITH A 2.5CM BORDER OF BACON ON EACH SIDE.
4. TO BUILD THE BOMBE, PEEL THE TOP LAYER OF PARCHMENT OFF THE BACON, LEAVING IT LYING ON THE BOTTOM SHEET. ARRANGE THE TURKEY, SKINNED-SIDE DOWN, ON THE BACON, THEN PAT THE SAUSAGE MIXTURE ON TOP. TRIM THE ROUNDED ENDS OFF THE CHORIZO AND LINE THEM, ENDS TOUCHING, ALONG THE MIDDLE OF THE SAUSAGE MEAT MIXTURE. USE THE EDGE OF THE BAKING PARCHMENT TO LIFT AND ROLL THE BACON AND TURKEY INTO A TIGHT LOG. TIE THE BOMBE AT INTERVALS WITH STRING TO KEEP IT TOGETHER, THEN WRAP WELL IN CLING FILM AND PUT IN THE FRIDGE. CAN BE PREPARED, UP TO THIS POINT, AND CHILLED TWO DAYS AHEAD.
5. TO COOK, HEAT OVEN TO 200C/180C FAN/GAS 6. REMOVE THE CLING FILM, THEN BRUSH THE BOMBE WITH A LITTLE OIL, PUT IT SEAM-SIDE DOWN ON A BAKING SHEET, AND ROAST FOR 30 MINS UNTIL THE BACON HAS CRISPED UP, THEN REDUCE OVEN TO 180C/160C FAN/GAS 6. BRUSH WITH THE MAPLE SYRUP TO GIVE IT A STICKY FINISH AND CONTINUE TO ROAST FOR ANOTHER 45 MINS

Legacy to Landscape celebrates trees

CELEBRATING National Tree Dressing Day is the theme of Legacy to Landscape community heritage project's last outdoor wildlife event of 2017.

The event is taking place on Sunday, December 3rd at the magical and quirky oblong woodland called Enna Wood, near Colyton.

Ruth Worsley, Legacy to Landscape project co-ordinator who has organised the event, said: "Tree dressing, an international tradition, involves creating artworks to dress trees at a time of year when they have lost their leaves and need cheering up. It's a chance to thank trees for the valuable resources they give us and their important role in the landscape and for wildlife."

Activities on offer at the event include a 'Bark and Bud Detectives Walk' with local tree enthusiast, Graham Jones, to meet some remarkable trees.

Ruth added: "Other barking fun activities will include lantern making and making bird feeder tree dressings."

"As the light fades, the event will culminate in a gathering round the tree. Please bring a favourite tree poem or story to share as part of the finale performance, where there will be a roaring log fire to keep warm."

Drop in activities will be held from 1pm to 4pm and the walk is from 1pm to 3pm.

Niall McNiece, who runs the Enna Woodland Project, said: "We run a range of programmes designed to use nature to help improve physical and mental health. Providing a range of exciting projects, Enna Woodland links a network of artistic, woodland and rural service providers with people wishing to access them."

This is a free event and booking is not necessary. For more details about Enna Wood or directions, visit www.ennawoodland.org. For more information on the Legacy to Landscape project, visit the website www.eastdevonaonb.org.uk/our-work/wildlife/legacy-to-landscape

More than £1,000 raised for cancer charities

A RECENT coffee morning held in Colyton Town Hall raised £830 for Cancer Research UK and an additional £200 for Breast Cancer Research on the tombola.

Organisers from the Colyton & Colyford branch of Cancer Research UK would like to thank everyone who provided gifts for the stalls, made donations, and local businesses who donated prizes for the raffle.

"We must thank all of the helpers who helped to make this event a success and to everyone who attended the event," said committee member Jean Love.

"All the support we received resulted in a very successful event for Cancer Research UK."

Carnival committee AGM

COLYTON Carnival Committee will hold its annual general meeting tonight (Tuesday, November 28th) at 7.45pm at the St John Hall.

All are welcome and the committee would particularly like to welcome some younger members.

Standing ovation for young pianist

AFTER his first memorable concert in Colyton in 2016, Luka Okros once again charmed his audience at St Andrew's Church with magic, for there is no other word to describe his natural ebullience.

Since his last visit, Luka has won first prize in both the Hanover and Hong Kong piano competitions and been broadcast on BBC Radio 3 and Classic FM. This remarkable young pianist from Georgia is quite the most dazzling representative of contemporary pianists we have had the pleasure to host.

In the latest Concerts for Colyton series organised by the Friends of St Andrew's (FoStA) on Saturday, November 18th the rapt and refreshingly age-diverse audience was enthralled by a display of extraordinary virtuosity enhanced even further by an emotional warmth that is impossible to quantify in words.

In a carefully contemplated and balanced programme, Luka gave exquisite renditions of works ranging from Schubert Impromptus Nos 1-4, Chopin Ballade No. 4, to Rachmaninoff Six Musical Moments and Prokofiev Piano Sonata No. 3 in the second half.

Demonstrating his supreme command of an instrument he has known intimately since the age of four, his performance won a second standing ovation from fans drawn from Colyton and much further afield. Luka reciprocated with a short encore, but "What was that beautiful touching piece he finished with?" people asked. We can tell you with a wry smile that it was Luka's very own composition, just Luka improvising seamlessly as only he can.

As FoStA chairman Ros Yarlott pointed out at the beginning of the concert, FoStA are indebted to the Tillet Trust for helping them bring tomorrow's classical music stars to play for us here. Without the trust's assistance, they simply could not afford to bring such talent to Colyton.

Review by Simon Ford

Primary school opens new kitchen classroom

COLYTON Primary School recently celebrated the opening of its new kitchen, which will allow children to learn more about food and cookery. The school's old kitchen classroom was completely refurbished thanks to a donation of £5,000 from Colyton Carnival Committee. Members of the committee, parents and families were among those invited to the opening, where children served homemade cakes and scones with cream and jam before Councillor Caroline Collier, representing the carnival committee, cut a ribbon to officially open the facility.

■ RICHARD David's article in November 14th edition cannot go unchallenged.

The majority of the electorate – those who voted Leave – did so whilst being aware of the potential great benefits to the UK from removing the shackles of the undemocratic, corrupt organisation that is the EU.

The accounts of the EU have apparently never been properly audited or verified. A business would not be allowed to operate in this manner.

The EU is run by whom? If the democratic electorate within the EU decide that it does not like how things are being governed how can the governor(s) be dismissed? Not by the electorate. The European Parliament rubber stamps orders from the unknowns.

Shades of the old Soviet Union?

The term Lib Dem seems to be used these days to hide the original name 'Liberal Democrats' who are no longer liberal or democratic – hence their wish to overturn the will of the referendum winning Leave voters.

At the last election this was clearly understood by the majority of the electorate who quite clearly rejected them as a political party.

If one is unable to comprehend the benefits of leaving the EU and one also votes Lib Dem, then that is showing definite lack of political, democratic and financial awareness.

JAMES HEWITT,
Sidmouth

Bed losses have environmental impact

■ IT APPEARS that the present management of the Royal Devon & Exeter Hospital (RD&E) are intent on carrying out the Ministry of Health directive to close all local hospitals and concentrate on one central facility that is to be run as a business.

RD&E have already removed all beds from local hospitals and are now actively removing specialist clinics and facilities.

Has anyone even thought that this policy is in direct conflict with the Government's commitment to the Paris Accord on climate change?

One specialist travelling from Exeter to Axminster is a round trip of approximately 40 miles whereas 30 patients travelling to Exeter is a round trip of approximately 1,200 miles.

The reduction in CO2 emission is obvious to anyone (excepting the Ministry of Health and its minister).

The same applies to the problem of bed blocking at RD&E. Patients sent to local hospitals to convalesce vastly reduces the carbon footprint of the people visiting them.

There is international concern regarding the massive increase in CO2 (with the one exception of President Trump) but it appears that nobody ever mentions or has thought of the fact that this ties up massive quantities of oxygen and without oxygen we are all in trouble.

Axminster is the central point of a large medical catchment area for East Devon, South Somerset and West Dorset where the population is rapidly rising and no major hospital facility is within the Government's seven minute emergency response range.

Axminster should be greatly enlarged, not closed and the site sold as seems to be current short sighted policy.

My own experience of the distances involved is of the doctor calling an emergency ambulance for an elderly lady who had collapsed.

The ambulance took 1hr 14mins to arrive and a further 32 minutes to get to A&E in Exeter.

Is this what we all pay our taxes for?

Hospital fight should be politicised

■ YOUR headline of November 21st reports a complaint about politicising a campaign to keep local hospitals open.

Whatever the details of what town councillors told each other, politicising this issue is exactly what is required.

The demolition of the National Health Service – of which local hospital closures are a part – is nothing to do with efficiency or austerity and everything to do with a cynical conspiracy by the current government to privatise the NHS and enrich the rapacious vultures waiting to exploit us. No doubt after a generous donation to party funds.

So-called austerity is a myth. Running a country of 60million people is entirely different from running a household, or even that corner shop in Grantham at which Margaret Thatcher learned her economics.

There is plenty of money available to our government to maintain the NHS and all the other public services being crippled: only the twisted political philosophy of the current administration keeps it away from us.

Thus, hospital closures are a purely political action and call for a political reaction to oppose them.

Only by dismissing this vicious, shambolic collection of billionaires and buffoons calling themselves a government can this be brought about – and political action is the only way of doing it.

Is anyone missing a cake?

■ WAS anyone in the Brunenburg Way area of Axminster expecting to find a Christmas cake outside their front door on Tuesday morning?

We did find a cake in a bag outside our door and have no idea where it has come from and why it was left there.

If you were the person who left it, we have the cake if you would like to collect it and deliver it to its correct destination.

ANN HELLIER,
Axminster

The CCG was working with the community

■ YOUR correspondent – Pulman's View, Nov 7th – asks the very valid question of who was representing the interests of the community?

The answer is the CCG's Patient and Public Engagement Committee (PPEC).

The PPEC meets quarterly and includes nine members of the public of which four represent East Devon.

At its meeting on September 7th 2016, item 3 on the agenda was the draft of the 'Your Future Care' document including, towards the end pages, the proposals to close community hospital beds.

The tragedy was that the abysmally poorly written document was very thin on the detail for the implementation of the 'New Model of Care in your Home' but had umpteen pages on the closure of beds in community hospitals.

The document should have been written in two phases:

Phase 1 – Implement 'New Model of Care' into people's homes; Save money by moving 'bed blockers' from expensive acute beds to existing empty beds in existing community hospitals - marginal costing.

Phase 2 – Review results of Phase 1 and implement accordingly.

CHRISTMAS OPEN DAYS AT THE MUSEUM

THURSDAY 30TH DECEMBER 2PM - 5PM AND FRIDAY 1ST DECEMBER 10.30AM - 5PM

Temporary Exhibition in the Museum: Snow, Floods and Storms

THE WORST disaster to hit East Devon in living memory came about 3.00am on the morning of 1st October 1960. Three inches of rain cascaded down and within minutes the centuries old village of Axmouth, lying hard by the Rover Axe, the ancient town of Colyton, bordered by the River Coly and the tiny village of Whitford were swimming in water.

Seaton Police Sergeant Donald Cowling received an S.O.S call at 3.30am and, with P.C. George Rudd, he drove to Axmouth to find the main road had disappeared under water. More than 40 houses in the village took the full brunt of the water, leaving them, as the water subsided, with inches of black, slimy mud covering floors and furniture.

Local photographer Tony Byrne-Jones took the photos printed and many other remarkable and unique pictures of the flood, available to be viewed at the Museum now.

The temporary exhibitions will also include photographs showing when

East Devon was cut off from the outside world when a snow blizzard hit the area over a weekend in mid February 1978. The main road to Exeter was blocked for five days and a strange uncanny silence filled the towns of Seaton and Colyton.

■ In four days 7.14 inches of rain fell at Axmouth and on the fateful morning 3.87 inches fell, leaving scenes like this. Extreme heavy rain fell in the catchment areas of the small stream which runs through the centre of the village. The force of the water carried trees and boulders, which built up a dam. When the dam broke, a tidal wave swept through the village.

■ Cleaning up after the flood was an arduous and unpleasant job, and many people lost virtually all their downstairs possessions. Here we have local residents in Axmouth bailing out water from their cottages.

On the first anniversary of the blaze that ripped through a city's historic heart, firefighters yesterday demanded an end to "dangerous" cuts. Unions said they feared lessons learned in the "horrific" inferno that devastated Exeter's Royal Clarence Hotel a year ago "have not been learned".

Fire Brigades Union chair Scott Young said: "Since the Cathedral Yard fire we have all witnessed the horror of Grenfell Tower, which is a wake-up call regarding the need for more effective fire and building safety." Exeter representative Dave Chappell added: "There are al-

Christmas Shopping Needn't Be A Pain In The Neck!

EVERY New Year, Crewkerne Chiropractic Clinic sees dozens of patients whose Christmases have been ruined by musculoskeletal pain, much of which could have been prevented.

Much of the upsurge in December cases arise from Christmas shopping. We all know the stereotypes, women make multiple forays into town to accumulate gifts for children, uncles, aunts, nieces and nephews breaking only for regular cappuccinos; blokes do nothing, stress out and then rely on a mad dash sometime late on Christmas Eve.

There is, of course, a compromise to be struck: don't let the fact that it's still only November prevent you from buying something you know is the perfect present ... and that's our first tip to avoid injury, buying in dribs and drabs prevents overloading muscles, joints and ligaments.

But, if you are going in for a major shop then park as close as you can to the shops and make regular trips back to the car to drop off bags before they become too heavy.

A couple of breaks for a sit down and a warming, re-hydrating cuppa can also help take the strain off shopping-weary backs – and, as far as your back is concerned, there is a huge difference between walking normally, and shuffling round stores: so have a plan rather than wandering aimlessly.

...And talking of planning, try these top pre-shop tips:

- Wear comfortable, well fitting, shoes.
- 1 – 'Air soles' help take strain off backs as well as feet whilst you're pounding the pavements.

- Don't bring any unnecessary things with you before you start shopping

- 1 – You'll have plenty to carry, so start light.

- Think about how you're going to transport stuff.

- 1 – Can you use a backpack?

- 2 – A shopping trolley can be a good idea... but push it, don't pull.

- 3 – Carry shopping bags equally on both sides so you're balanced.

- 4 – If it's heavy, can you get it delivered?

- Mind your posture!

- 1 – Don't let your shoulders slump: walk tall with your shoulders back.

And if you are struggling, Crewkerne Chiropractic Clinic is open before, during and after Yuletide!

Michelle Hague Hypnotherapy

SOCIAL Anxiety, can seem even more difficult as the festive season approaches. Many people go through life dreading such encounters and social engagements where they are exposed to their feared social situation, which provokes anxiety, or possibly a panic attack. Social anxiety disorder (SAD), not to be confused with seasonal depression associated with the onset of winter or social phobia, is a common anxiety disorder in which individuals shun all forms of interpersonal contact or undergo extreme physical or mental discomfort in social settings. Until recently, this condition was dismissed as a normal variant of human personality. However, most psychologists and therapists now believe that social phobia is not another label for shyness. Shyness neither is a prerequisite for nor can be considered as synonymous with social anxiety disorder.

Patients with SAD crave for company, but fear social interactions because they are afraid of being ridiculed and perceived as unlikable, stupid or boring. They suffer from low self esteem and SAD is also associated with an increased risk of conditions such as depression.

Presently, the treatment options for SAD include either psychotherapy, medication, or both. Cognitive behaviour therapy that aims at changing the thought patterns and physical reactions to anxiety-inducing situations is found to be effective in treating social phobia. SAD has been described as an "illness of lost opportunities." Few people with social anxiety disorder seek professional help. For most patients suffering in silence, it remains a pervasive disabling condition that prevents them from leading a fuller, richer life. Clinical Hypnotherapy can help many to build the skills and self esteem needed to change this debilitating condition, and manage it better. Call Michelle Hague to see if she can help, 07761773563.

Lindy Parry Podiatrist & Chiropodist

I HOLD my private chiropody clinic at Townsend House Surgery in Seaton.

I offer a range of treatments from a simple nail cut to nail surgery, and each treatment plan is priced accordingly.

The nail cutting only service is a shorter appointment and is ideal for those that don't have any other foot care needs. Others like to alternate nail cuts with chiropody treatments as it best suits their requirements. I always aim to work with the patient to find the best treatment plan to suit each individual. Patients feet are then monitored during treatment so that changes can be made should the need arise.

Diabetic patients who attend for chiropody will also have a diabetic foot assessment carried out during their first treatment, and will then be monitored and re-assessed as necessary.

My chiropody clinics are available to anybody seeking help with their feet and Townsend House and I look forward to welcoming you.

Bookings can be made by calling 01297 22956.

Pen and wash demo at art society

■ AXMINSTER ART SOCIETY: October's meeting brought Terry Whitworth to Axminster to demonstrate his beautiful pen and wash techniques.

Terry, who set himself the task of painting all the old buildings in Bridport, took members through the process, saying: "It is far more interesting to isolate one particular building away from its neighbours."

By looking at it face-on, you are not constrained by perspective, concentrating only on proportions and architectural features.

With a palette including Van Dyke brown, cadmium red, blue and olive green, Terry also used indian red and neutral tint to capture the deep red weathered look of the bricks and pillar features as he started painting.

He used a little masking fluid to preserve some of the special features but overall was aiming to work in a free loose style whilst still maintaining the necessary accuracy.

Running a sharp blade along lines of brick and along the lines of tiles enabled the wet paint to fill the grooves and gave an aged look to the building.

After painting the windows dark, he changed his thick brush for a rigger to add shadows and highlights around the frames and finally added a transparent wash of cadmium red to warm up the painting.

After tea, Terry drew the cottage that houses the oldest butcher's shop in the country,

■ AXE VALLEY CENTRE OF THE NATIONAL TRUST: Alan Nicholas gave an illustrated talk on the 'Lighthouses of the Channel Islands' at the last meeting.

Alan worked for 40 years as a civil engineer in the lighthouse service.

He explained the Channel Islands consist of seven inhabited islands and many uninhabited islets and rocks, which, with strong tides, make the seas around them very dangerous.

The first Lighthouse was built on the Casquets rocks in 1724 and others quickly followed.

Alan explained that Trinity House is responsible for all navigational lighthouses, but none of these are manned now: all are run by computer from a control room in Harwich.

using a fine pen to pick out details.

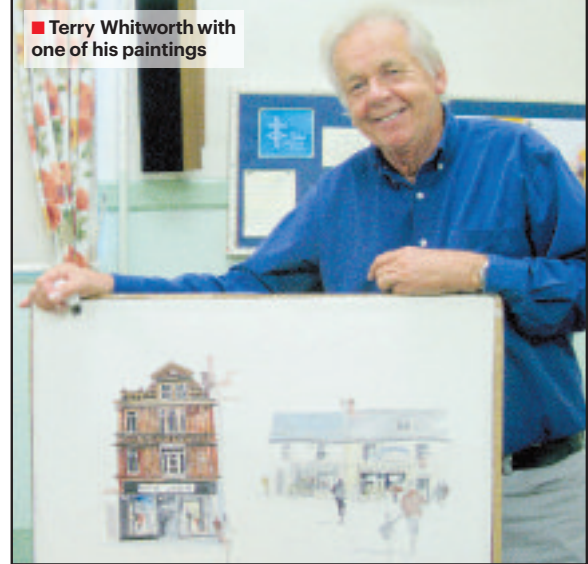

He drew the lettering with masking fluid and showed us how, although line-work almost disappears under paint washes, it still adds definition.

The off-white colour of the building suggested a hint of age and again lines drawn with a blade allowed paint to fill in the fractures.

Adding people in the street, he checked their eye levels in relation to the height of the doors of the buildings and pointed out that, when people are nearer to the viewer, their heads should still be at door height although their bodies will obviously be bigger.

INSPIRING WOMEN

■ BEER WI: Members focused on activities relating to fundraising and crafts at the November meeting.

A raffle was held to raise funds for Denman, a country house in Oxfordshire - owned by the NFWI - at which a variety of courses are run throughout the year.

Each WI tries to support it and Beer WI also - funds permitting - likes to offer a bursary to enable one of their members to book on a course of their choice.

This year the bursary was awarded to Pauline Procter and members look forward to hearing about her experience in due course.

Ann Robinson gave a craft demonstration on making a Christmas tree hanging decoration from plastic milk bottle tops and fabric.

Members had all been mysteriously asked to collect the plastic tops so were pleased to see them utilised in a colourful and seasonal way!

The group is also participating in a craft sale in St Michael's Church, Beer on December 8th from 5pm-8pm for Christmas shopping and Light-up Friday, where more of their crafts will be available to buy.

Beer WI's other focus is ensuring that the Over 65s Party on December 7th is a success and they look forward to seeing faces old and new at this annual WI supported event.

The next meeting is on December 6th, when Val Authorfield will be giving a talk entitled 'Halos and Hangovers'. Guests welcome.

Pam's Christmas flowers

■ AXMINSTER FLOWER CLUB: Pam Burge was on hand for this year's Christmas demonstration.

She used a wide variety of flowers and foliage in the array of arrangements which delighted her audience.

Starting with an arrangement of stunning, tall, white amaryllis and white carnations on a raised base with varied greenery and subtle glitter, this was a reminder that winter and Christmas were not far away.

Following this was a stunning arrangement of yellow gerberas, a favourite flower of many.

Pam's next offering were two stylistic arrangements of roses and chrysanthemums presented on tall shapely vases.

As a complete contrast there was an arrangement of red carnations within a circle of colour, the result being almost a circle of fire.

The final arrangement consisted of a combination of eryngium, lisianthus and red gladioli in a festive setting based around a vintage lantern lit with red candles. It was a lovely Christmas finale

It was a very enjoyable afternoon and Pam's creations inspired and entertained.

HOMES & GARDENS

LET THESE LOCAL BUSINESSES MAKE YOUR HOUSE A HOME & YOUR GARDEN GLORIOUS THIS AUTUMN

EDEN GARDEN FENCING AND LANDSCAPING

AT EDEN Garden Fencing and Landscaping based in Seaton, Devon we have been building and installing quality Fencing, Gates and Decking, along with Landscaping, for some 15 years. This makes finding a Fencing Contractor simple by providing for all clients' requirements, large and small locally. The timber products side of Landscapers, Eden Garden Developments, offers a friendly, professional, integrated service and the Seaton, Devon base covers a 30 mile radius. A timely example, given the present gusty conditions, is Garden Fencing, where this can be replaced or repaired, depending upon condition and the budget available. This can be either Close Board, Panel (with or without Trellis), Post and Rail or Picket Fencing. Eden Garden Fencing and Landscaping also supply and fit Gates (see insets). Whilst we take pride in installing robust and durable fencing products, "cost leadership" is still at the forefront of the business, whilst keeping quality and the principles of design foremost. Much of the work can be done during Autumn and Winter when the ground is less compacted and this time is also perfect for renovating the garden generally. So by Spring many garden improvements can be ready to be enjoyed.

There is now a dedicated Timber Products website, www.edengardenfencing.co.uk, giving examples of the range and quality of workmanship. Additionally, information can be obtained by calling 01297 23596 (mobile 07977 415446) or visiting the general web pages at www.a1-environmental.com

Wake up your walls

Wallpaper experts reveal their top tips and predictions for 2018

WANT to wake up your walls? Gabrielle Fagan speaks to those-in-the-know about the hottest wallpaper looks.

Walls - like presents - look their best when well-wrapped. And there's now a huge choice of wallpapers out there, so they can shimmer, sparkle or stun with texture, pattern and colour.

Papering a single feature wall, or a whole room, is also a 'fast' way to embrace a trend. After all, we're increasingly following home fashion just as closely we do clothes - and a winning combination of cutting-edge digital technology and brilliant designs makes it possible to literally transform a setting with just a roll of paper.

Here, three experts in the field reveal their wallpaper wisdom and trend predictions for the year ahead...

Create drama and personality

"WALLPAPER has observed tradition for too long and people are starting to acknowledge its potential in their homes," says Catherine Jacob, head of design at Murals Wallpaper, who offers a range of designs and can create bespoke wall murals from images, designs or photographs supplied by customers.

"Platforms such as Pinterest and Instagram inspire people and help empower them to experiment, while the rise in personalisation means people are enjoying creating unique designs for their walls.

"Generally, patterns are becoming more daring, with large-scale dark florals, jungle prints and bright coloured geometrics enlivening the landscape of walls once dominated by a conventional neutral palette of paint."

For 2018, she predicts large-scale images or repeat patterns will offer a punchy alternative to the small, ditsy patterns of yesteryear.

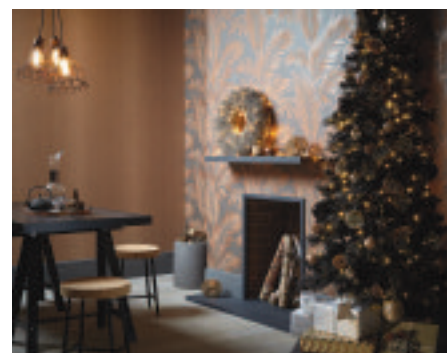

"Millennial pink reigns as the new black and has become a staple base colour, but lilac tones are gaining popularity," Catherine adds.

"Faux texture wallpapers are recognised as a brilliant way to change the character of a space, with brick for a rustic look or concrete for a chic industrial feel, or even wool for softer luxury. The craft/handmade movement is inspiring design, so look out for more free-flowing painterly styles, merging the look of artisan skills with digital-age technology."

Top tip: To enhance a setting and ensure a beautiful wall covering is the focus of a room, pick out key colours from the design and repeat them in plain fabrics and painted woodwork.

Play with pattern

"THESE days, people can choose a look which totally reflects their personality and taste. Whether you prefer a bold colour palette with pops of bright colour, linear or geometric patterns, or shimmering metallics, there's literally something for everyone," says Paula Taylor, colour and trends specialist for Graham & Brown.

"For 2018, we've identified key trends which form the backdrop to our new collections. We're focusing on raw beauty - tactility, texture and fresh white forms, which bring purity to a home - think weaves, cane work and wood grain with layered, natural finishes.

"Vibrant tones of turquoise, parakeet green and fuchsia which will burst onto the scene next year, reflecting the desire for botanical opulence and lush vegetation," Paula adds. "We're also focusing on nature in our Bugs Silver Wallpaper, featuring butterflies and insects."

"Global influences are here to stay, with an appreciation of intricate mark-making, weave dying and bold graphic elements. This trend will be a statement look, with sapphire, crimson and papaya colours, underlined by earthier rusts and greys in celebration of highly-coloured pattern."

Top tip: For a stylish statement wall that conjures an eclectic traveller look, consider a bright tropical wallpaper featuring animated creatures and layered forest leaves, paired with natural wood furniture, bamboo accessories and wicker accents. For a modern feel, pair patterned wallpaper in a calming sage green with clean lines and contemporary furniture, and contrast vivid colours with glossy white finishes.

Get involved with shimmer and texture

"THE trend for people to be brave with pattern and embrace colour will continue into 2018," promises Alex Whitecroft, head of design at I Want Wallpaper.

"The popularity of floral patterns endures and classic patterns are getting an update, with new printing techniques and a fresh focus on detail and larger-scale patterns. A pink/purple palette will be the top favourite.

"The trend to bring the 'outdoors in', with the adoption of botanical and tropical looks, will evolve even further. There are so many fabulous ways to incorporate this look, from subtle embossed palm leaves to bold and bright tropical prints."

"Industrial papers mimicking the look of natural materials will continue to be popular, with earthy tones and dark woods taking over from the pale, blonde Scandinavian-style which is now waning."

"Metallics and designs incorporating sparkle and shine are another hot trend, and are brilliant in light-starved rooms, as they help bounce light around and give an illusion of space.

"These wallpapers look stunning as a feature wall for a backdrop to a Christmas tree," Alex adds. "Generally, copper's been popular, but many predict matt silver metallics will triumph in the next 12 months."

Top tip: A large print used on all the walls in a small room, or one with low ceilings, may be overbearing - so use it sparingly or consider using a smaller-scale, simpler graphic design, or a simple textured paper.

It's time to put your dahlias away for winter!

IF YOU want to enjoy your dahlias next year, dig them up now and store them for winter. Here's how to do it.

As the first frosts arrive, it's time to lift dahlia tubers and put them in storage, ready for next year.

Of course, some gardeners will leave the tubers in the ground - and keep their fingers crossed that we have a mild enough winter to keep these tender perennials going for another year, helping them along by cutting the spent plants down to ground level, applying a thick layer of mulch on the soil surface, and maybe even an upturned pot to stop persistent rain soaking and rotting the tubers.

But dahlias aren't very adept at sustaining long periods of cold, wet or frosty weather - and if you live in a really cold, wet part of the country, you may be better off lifting them.

Here's our step-by-step guide for how to do it...

1. Wait until the first frosts

Let the first frosts blacken the leaves to allow maximum time for the plant to make strong tubers. Then tie up the plants by cutting back the stems to around 10cm (4in) high.

2. Label the plants

Tie a label to the shortened stem of each variety, so you can identify the varieties you'll be replanting next year. Do it before you lift all the tubers, or it will become confusing.

3. Dig carefully

With a garden fork, dig around the perimeter of the plant to gently loosen the tubers. You do not want to be going in hell for leather and risking your fork damaging them. Lift the tuber out of the ground in one piece if you can, as bits that break off won't regrow without an intact piece of crown and bud.

4. Clear off the soil

Remove soil around the tubers, which will be a piece of cake if you have sandy soil but trickier if you live on clay soil, in which case you may need a brush to help remove a lot of the caked-on dirt. Take care to hold the tuber by the main stems, so you don't damage the crown or the clumps underneath.

5. Dry them off

Leave the tubers upside down in a greenhouse or shed to dry off, and once that's done, remove any remaining soil with your hands and cut off any bits that look damaged or diseased. You can also cut back the stem by half again. Put each tuber on newspaper, cover them with wood chips or compost, and wrap the paper around the tubers before placing them loosely in a cardboard box to store in a garage, shed or other frost-free but cool building.

Follow these steps, and hopefully they will be ready to be revived come spring for re-planting.

Six things to think about when choosing your Christmas tree

AS CHRISTMAS trees arrive in garden centres, expert David Mitchell offers advice to those who only have a small space for a real tree.

Struggling to squeeze in a Christmas tree that's too tall and wide for the space in your home, leaving you reaching for the secateurs in an effort to cut it down to size?

Bigger the better might seem like a good approach when it comes to choosing a Christmas tree, but squashed in probably isn't the look you're really hoping for, so it's far better to give a little thought to what size and style of tree is going to be best.

Here, David Mitchell, Christmas tree expert and buying manager for horticulture at Wyevalde Garden Centres (wyevaldegardencentres.co.uk), talks us through six things to consider when choosing your tree...

1. How tall should you go?

THE first thing you need to consider is ceiling height, says David Mitchell, Christmas tree expert and buying manager for horticulture at Wyevalde Garden Centres.

"A lot of people have no idea how tall their ceiling is, and when you imagine a tree in a certain space, it's easy to get over-ambitious as to what you can fit in there," he says. "You also have to remember that the stand is going to add perhaps another six inches to the overall height of the tree, and quite often you find that you are having to cut the top off, or something that compromises the shape of the tree. So measure the tree and make allowances for the stand."

2. How wide can it really be?

"A LOT of the trees are coming through very wide. The Nordmann, by its very nature, is a wide variety with a wide skirt around the base.

We've been doing pruning work in the fields to help keep it within certain limits," says David.

"A lot of people want something that's big, bushy and deluxe, but as a general trend, we do want them slimmer and we try to accommodate that."

3. What style of tree is it?

IF YOUR space is very restricted and you want an extremely slim tree, Wyevalde offers a Swedish style Nordmann, which costs slightly less than a traditional Nordmann - but there won't be as many of them and they sell out first.

"Back in 2014, we recognised there was very much a trend for artificial trees at that time that were very stripped out and minimalist, following a Scandinavian approach, where you could see the light coming through between the branches.

"We decided to do a version of that with our living trees, so we were selecting trees which had that layered effect, and prune in the field to get that shape and layered effect."

Alternatively, the Fraser fir has a much more narrow profile, which has a more columnar figure and upright habit, with branches sweeping upwards rather than downwards.

4. What sort of scent are you after?

FOR many people, the fragrances of the festive season are part of the appeal, so think about whether you want your tree to be scented. "You also have to consider whether you want something highly scented, which might steer you towards a Fraser fir. You can get artificial scents to put in the tree, but there's nothing like the real thing," notes David.

5. Avoid clipping catastrophes

IF YOU are going to attempt to trim back your own tree, there are rules about pruning.

"Ultimately, you have to cut where is necessary to make it fit the space, but there's a tidy way of doing it," says David. "If you cut any given branch half way down its length fairly unceremoniously, then it's going to look as if it's been cut off.

"If you cut it in between the nodes, taking off individual 'fingers' of the tree, or find a natural break, that's always going to look better than if you cut it half way down. I wouldn't just take shears to it and cut it off. Look for a natural joint. There's no risk of damaging the tree but because it's such a centrepiece, it's worth spending a bit of time on it and pruning with a bit of finesse."

If the only spot for your tree is by a radiator, you have to accept that it's going to dry out. This means it will need more water, if it's in a trough, and you're likely to see some areas going brown and a fair bit of needle-drop.

6. Consider some alternatives

IF YOU simply don't have room for a proper tree, there are other alternatives, such as long dogwood-style twigs or other branches which you could put in a vase and decorate with baubles to give the room a festive air. Many garden centres also sell artificial thin trees which are almost like a standard, just with branches on the upper third of the tree.

"There are a lot of artificial trees which have that stark white Betula jacquemontii (silver birch) look," says David. "It gives that stripped out, minimalist effect. A real one in a pot would be OK indoors for a couple of weeks in December. You can decorate it and dress it up.

"I'm very much coming over to the notion of having a Christmas tree outside as well, because some of the Christmas lights are very well suited to indoor or outdoor use, and they can be solar powered, so you can have a set of lights and you don't have to worry about power or batteries."

Restoring original features in your home

MANY of us will choose a house based on those immortal words 'original features'. Fireplaces, wooden floors, ceiling coving and old pine doors are all things that can raise a house above the pack when it comes to the estate agents details. But more often than not those much-loved features have seen better days - pitted boards, crumbling plaster and peeling baths - fine in theory but those promises to fix them up are often forgotten in among the important task of living day to day in a property.

However, whether you're fixing up to sell or just want to give your home the love it deserves it's important to respect original features and restore them extremely carefully - a bodge job won't see the house through another year, let alone 150. Many professionals advocate using like for like when restoring a Victorian or Edwardian home, making new additions blend in with old, while others suggest respecting the original by making alterations and additions obvious. The benefit to this is not only in adding your own mark to a place but also in realising that a copy is not as desirable as an original.

If you desperately wish to keep an old home in the state it was intended to be your first stop should undoubtedly be the local reclamation yard or handy website www.salvo.co.uk where you can pick up anything from paving slabs to sash windows, plaster mouldings to butler sinks, church pews and even school toilets. You might also wish to build up a network of local builders who will get in contact if they remove something you need from another house or even knock on the doors of homes which are obviously being renovated.

While restoring wooden doors and floors may seem as simple as a sanding and waxing job, often panels or boards may need replacing or woodworm may need to be treated. For the perfect finish hire a professional who will know how to use the unwieldy floor sander and exactly what products to use on your wood. Additionally a carpenter can suggest ways in which warped or ill fitting doors can be improved. Original bathroom fittings can look wonderful but there's no denying that tens of years of wear and tear can take their toll. With a little attention lavished on them ball and claw baths, butler sinks and even old loos can be given a gleaming new lease of life. Again, rejuvenating a cast iron bath might be best left to a professional although home re-namaling kits are available. A toilet bowl, even one as old as your Granny, can be cleaned using good old fashioned housewives tips such as bicarbonate of soda or indeed a professional can resurface both bowl and tank for you.

Of course, with the new back-to-basics trend in interiors you may choose to make a feature of crumbling plaster and chipped fire surrounds - there's never been a better time to work that 'worn in' look.

COLOURFENCE

Colourfence - The ONLY garden fence you will ever need!

ANDY AND SHELLEY Stewart, launched Colourfence 3 years ago in South Somerset & Dorset. They have been working hard towards promoting Colourfence and this is fast becoming a well-known product across their area. Great news for the area's homeowners who have become frustrated and tired of maintaining their traditional timber fencing!

The feedback from their customers has been overwhelming and this has increased their recommendations from happy customers, who are extremely pleased with their new low maintenance fence, so they can now spend more time enjoying their gardens.

Colourfence is the alternative to timber fencing... Our fence is guaranteed not to warp, chip or peel for up to 25 years*. Put an end to painting, an end to rotten posts - an end to constant maintenance! Colourfence goes up, stays up whatever the weather, even against wind gusts of 130mph! Virtually maintenance free, with an occasional wash down with water to keep it looking as good as new. Both sides of the panel are the same, so both you and your neighbour have a stunning fence to look at year after year, ensuring good neighbourly relations.

Our fences and gates are available in a variety of heights and colours with or without trellis, our skilled installation team will make short work of transforming your garden. Starting costs are in line with comparable traditional systems but offer the ongoing peace of mind that Colourfence will continue to save you time and money year after year.

QUICK 'N EASY EPIC MULLED CIDER

by Rosie - www.thelondoner.me

Ingredients

- 1 litre of cloudy cider
- Half litre of ginger beer
- 1 orange
- Handful of cloves
- Couple of cinnamon sticks
- Splash of maple syrup (or honey)
- Sloe gin or spiced rum (optional)

Instructions

- Stab a good few small holes into your orange (use a skewer or a pencil) and poke your cloves in. Pop into the bottom of a large saucepan, pour over your cider, ginger beer, add your cinnamon sticks and splash of syrup. Put the lid on and bring to the boil.
- Once it's boiled, turn the heat off, add a measure or two of sloe gin (or rum).
- Pour into a jug, orange 'n' all.
- Serve in mugs or jars if you'd like larger rations.
- Don't use glasses as they might not cope with the heat very well.

Remembrance events well supported

■ LARGE numbers of local people gathered both on Armistice Day and Remembrance Sunday on the Minster Green in Axminster to pay tribute to all those who died in the Great War, World War II and other conflicts past and present.

Despite the cold wind and rain, the mayor, town council and many others took part in the parade from South Street car park to the Memorial, including young children representing the Brownies, Guides, Cubs, Scouts and Beavers, and St John Ambulance proudly carrying their standards.

Following the two minutes' silence, wreaths were laid by representatives from the town council, the Royal British Legion, military personnel, the church, the police, the Conservative Club, Masonic Lodge, Rotary Club, Tesco, local schoolchildren (some of the tributes made by the children) and many other groups and businesses in Axminster.

Each year the number of families and townsfolk, who come along to pay their respects and remember the fallen, grows.

Like so many towns and villages throughout our country, Axminster continues to honour those who made the supreme sacrifice for our freedom.

"When you go home tell them of us and say, for your tomorrow, we gave our today" – the Kohima tribute read each year, at the Cenotaph and every memorial in our land, poignantly expresses the thoughts of us all.

Thank you Axminster for all the support you give to the Royal British Legion throughout the year and particularly at this time of Remembrance and especially to the young children to whom we entrust this moving Act of Remembrance for generations to come.

LESLEY FRANKAU,

RBL Axminster Women's Section chairman

Councillor was welcome at meeting

■ I WAS saddened to read that Seaton Liberal Democrat councillor, Peter Burrows, told the town council of his upset not to have heard about Martin Shaw's hospital meeting a few weeks ago.

I was asked to chair that meeting not because I am part of the East Devon Alliance but because – in a district where meetings so often degenerate into bullying and intimidation – I am known to use the chair to give everyone a chance to have a full say.

In particular, I do try to expose any cant with humour and to gently deflate windbags too fond of the sound of their own voices.

I believe that Peter would have been most welcome to attend and

■ HALF of Seaton Hospital remains empty, after the beds were closed at the end of August.

I am more than prepared to work with everyone, including Peter Burrows, to ensure a future for health services in Seaton and the other hospitals.

That is where we should all concentrate our energies.

However, you report that Cllr Burrows has criticised me because he was not informed about a meeting I organised in October of campaigners for the hospitals.

As I told the town council, I invited to the meeting people who had given their email addresses to receive information about the hospital campaign.

Cllr Burrows had never asked to be kept informed.

The email list which I run was started at a 150-strong public meeting about Seaton Hospital at Colyford in March.

At the time I posted information about this meeting to a Facebook group which Cllr Burrows manages, 'It's Seaton DEVON thank you very much'.

However Cllr Burrows deleted my post, and after I protested about this, blocked me from the group altogether.

Despite having asked Cllr Burrows to reconsider, I remain barred and unable to post information to the people in that group.

MARTIN SHAW,
Independent East Devon Alliance County Councillor for Seaton & Colyton

■ FOUNDED in 1990, Animal Defenders International (ADI) actively works to protect animals in entertainment and research by lobbying for legislative change, public awareness campaigns and implements worldwide rescue and rehoming programmes.

A street collection to raise funds for our animal rescue work was held in Axminster on the October 27th and our collectors, Maggie Dunn and Julia Johnston, raised £43.10.

ADI would like to thank the people of Axminster for their support, which will help the organisation continue to rescue and rehome animals worldwide.

ADI has recently rescued all the circus animals in Peru, following the ban on the use of wild animals in circuses there, flying them to the Emoya Big Cat Sanctuary in South Africa.

JAN CREAMER,
Animal Defenders International president

it's a pity he didn't hear about it, even though self-declared people of Conservative, Green, Labour and UKIP sympathies did, making welcome contributions.

What they all had in common was a unified sense that the Sustainability and Transformation Plan for our end of East Devon is not sustainable and is ruining rather than transforming.

The NHS problem we all now have arose from the Lib Dem support of the Tories in the catastrophic and little understood 2012 Health and Social Care Act.

That was in essence an abandonment of central government's duty to maintain a National Health Service as well as a roadmap to breaking the entire system into privatisable chunks. This is happening before our eyes across East Devon.

That was discussed at the meeting, and as a Lib Dem Peter's analysis of his party's culpability could have been heard.

But actually the meeting's main focus was not political blame games. Rather it sought to work out how, having been betrayed by our local Clinical Commissioning Group, the Axe Valley community now organises itself to back positive offers for the use of both Seaton and Axminster hospitals to prevent them being sold for development.

However, although I do know that Martin advertised the meeting widely, if I am asked to chair another one I will check that Peter has received an embossed invitation.

PAUL ARNOTT,
Colyton

Keep traffic out of town centre

■ I AM appalled at the idea of re-opening lower Fore Street and lower Queen Street to through traffic.

Many years ago we had so much trouble getting the relief road (now known as The Underfleet) back on the county council agenda in order to allow us to stop through traffic in our narrow streets.

This was accomplished only after the town council sent a video to the Ministry of Transport proving the congestion caused when vehicles were jammed back as far as Manor Road.

The surface of the "pedestrian friendly" (never fully pedestrianised) area was specifically laid to prevent its use by through traffic.

A lower specification was made for the base of these roads which, if the town council wanted to run a trial, would have to be relaid to higher standards.

Additionally, the fumes from passing (or waiting) vehicles would be detrimental to everyone living, shopping and working in Fore Street and Queen Street.

It has been a pleasure for the past 20 years to be able to walk down these streets without having to dodge traffic.

I am sure anyone with a walker or a pushchair would agree with me.

DON'T MISS THIS YEAR'S COLYTON CHRISTMAS FAYRE!

HUGE crowds are once again expected to pack the streets of Colyton as the town hosts its annual Christmas Fayre.

The fayre will be held from 4pm to 7pm on Wednesday, December 6th, to include the switch-on of the Christmas lights – much improved in recent years thanks to donations from Colyton Carnival Committee – at 5.45pm.

Colyton Town Hall will be packed with stalls offering a variety of locally-made crafts and Christmas treats from 4pm, and don't forget to buy your ticket for the grand raffle. Additional stalls will also be set up in The Cobblers, The Kingfisher, the Old Bakehouse and the church hall.

Lights a candle in memory of a loved one at the St Andrew's Church Candle Light Walk, or take part in the banner-making competition with a 'Twelve Days of Christmas' theme.

There will be a chance for children to meet Father Christmas in his grotto at Colyton Memorial Social Club between 5pm and 6.30pm, while other attractions will include visits from Munchkins Miniature Shetland Rescue and the local fire crew.

Colyton Library will also be hosting special activities, including a Christmas crafts workshop and storytelling, and festivities will finish with a dancing display in Market Square at 6.15pm.

Refreshments will be served at venues around the town throughout the evening, and hot pork rolls, burgers and hot dogs will be available in Market Square.

Proceeds from the event will go towards community organisations.

Gordon & Rumsby

IT'S HARD to believe that another year has flown as quickly as the last and it has been yet another one of ups and downs!

The beginning of this year started with a bang with plenty of buyers looking for new homes in the area. The problem was, we had very little to offer them with stock levels being the lowest I had seen since 2008. Properties that had been on the market for some time were selling as there was little choice for ready and willing buyers. The knock on effect of this was that people started to notice this and we were inundated with valuations throughout February and then put a record number of properties (for our agency) on the market in March. I had many late nights in the office in the Spring! April was similar but not quite as busy and when the general election was announced in early May, the market almost ground to a halt. There followed a slow summer but the Autumn picked up nicely and I am pleased to say that we have sold plenty of properties throughout October and November.

It is likely that low stock will fuel plenty of New Year activity again as, having healthy Autumn sales but few people wanting to market this side of Christmas, we are not replacing those that we have sold. This means that anyone thinking of selling early in 2018 will be in a strong position and we would love to hear from you!

Thanks once again for all the lovely testimonials our customers have written about us and for those who are recommending our services to others. We will continue to work hard for our clients and to provide a most unusual estate agency service, because that's just who we are! Finally, I would like to wish everyone a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

The Kingfisher Inn

THE greedy march of chain pubs with their soul-less interiors, cheap beer, loud customers and microwave meals has done more to ruin the old English inn than Hitler's Luftwaffe achieved, but thankfully a few proper old taverns still exist – and The Kingfisher in Colyton is among the best of them.

The visitor looking for a unspoilt, traditional Devon pub where the hospitality is hearty need look no further than this 16th Century inn, easily found in the centre of the town. It's exactly like an old pub should be – traditional roasts on Sundays, meat raffles in the bar every Saturday, CAMRA-rated honest local ales, a beautiful beer garden and a rare place where you can still play skittles, darts and crib.

The Kingfisher is also the friendly home to great British pub grub – fish and chips that are said to be the best in the area, steak and kidney pie, chicken and leek pie, whitebait, stuffed mushrooms, baked salmon, sirloin steak, scampi, egg and chips and raspberry and apple pie are among the choices that are all freshly-homemade and come in large portions.

It is a popular spot with walkers and rave reviews of the welcome at The Kingfisher have come from as far as California. Typical is the thumbs-up from a recent visitor from Birmingham, who wrote: 'It's been a long time since we enjoyed a simple, well-cooked pub meal and this pub does the job. We had scampi, chips, peas and salad and ham, egg, chips and peas and our meals were thoroughly enjoyable. The food was well presented – no attempts to be a gastropub or anything fancy, just good, wholesome pub grub. We cleared our plates and we just wish that this pub was our local! We will definitely be back.'

A great find, a little Devon treasure and highly-recommended by all its patrons.

Colcombe Castle

THE 500-year-old Colcombe Castle is a paradise for those seeking the unspoilt, traditional pleasures of a classic English pub – especially on Friday and Saturday nights when The Colcombe Scufflers tune up and play.

Anyone can join in with the Scufflers, the weekends are open-mike nights when old friends and strangers are both welcome to break into song. You can bring your own guitar, or simply borrow one of those available at the pub.

Better still, have a go on the old-style skiffle instruments – the tea chest bass or washboard – as the whole pub launches into a singalong.

It's not just the regular beers – Otter Amber, Dartmoor Legend and Dartmoor Jail – that won The Colcombe Castle whatpub.com's vote as 'friendly and welcoming', it's the old-style, no-fuss of it.

And there's a great carvery here every Sunday. It's a real find for those who want their pubs to be pubs.

Christmas at Blackbury Honey Farm

ALL is peace and quiet up here with people coming in to enjoy a leisurely lunch or tea as a break from the hurly - burly of Christmas preparations. Our home - made mince pies and slices of Christmas cake are proving very popular, as is our special Christmas honey chutney.

Whilst here, why not take the opportunity to do a little gentle gift shopping in an unhurried atmosphere. We have our luscious local honey, honey chutnies and marmalades, beeswax candles, honey cosmetics and many more gorgeous and unusual presents. Why not make up your own very personal gift bag and complete it with a special card and wrapping paper.

is the time of year for getting the diaries out and planning next year's programme. We have already taken several bookings for 2018 so if your group is seeking a fantastic location with good food, lovely gardens and an interesting talk, get in touch with us now. Alternatively, one of our beekeepers can come out to you.

We will be open until 17th December so still time to get out here, soak up our special ambience, enjoy some seasonal delights in the tearoom and shop for that special gift. We look forward to seeing you soon. Come and be part of this special place.

The Tinderbox

ENTER into the festive season with a visit to the town of Colyton for a fabulous evening and see Her all lit up in Christmas finery. There are a lovely selection of independent shops and wonderful food.

Here at The Tinderbox we have many unusual keepsakes for your perusal and ready to 'spark the imagination'. Model theatres, pop up cards and shadow boxes from the magical Benjamin Pollocks Toyshop. The theatres can be made up to put on a show with scripts, scene changes and moveable characters included-they also make an alluring ornament in the home.

How about an automaton or mechanical toy kit? Automata have been around for hundreds of years but were particularly loved by the Victorians. Making up one of these kits is a great introduction for children on how things work and fit together with moving parts, then bring them to life by turning the handle or by adding a motor. With a variety of skills levels these super items will suit many ages.

We have a number of toys from times past with Jack-In-The-Box, kaleidoscopes and collectable tin toys for the young at heart.

Accessories, novel gifts and stocking fillers abound including socks, candles, bookmarks and beautiful hand made hanging mobiles.

Along side this eclectic mix are the delicious chocolates-centre stage is the 'pick your own' cabinet of loose chocolates, hand made in Belgium and the U.K, from which you can choose what goes into a selection box-or treat yourself to a favourite, definitely not for sharing! There is an assortment of pre packaged chocolates with some gluten free and no sugar added ranges.

We do look forward to seeing you in our little shop, once the most rebellious town in Devon-now one of the most welcoming.

CHRISTMAS IN Colyton & Colyford

HAPPY HOLIDAYS & FESTIVE CHEER

The Gerrard Arms

THE GERRARD Arms is a small, friendly pub in the centre of the town of Colyton. It dates back to 1506 and is one of the oldest coaching inns in town, remaining largely unchanged until 1914 when the building caught fire and the original thatched roof was lost. Later, the stables were sold off, and after several refits the pub settled into its current configuration, at the time as a Charrington House.

Once visited by none other than Lawrence of Arabia (so folklore has it), the Gerrard Arms now retains the traditional feel of a pleasant country pub, whilst offering a selection of beverages only possible in a Freehouse.

Today Dave and Kaz welcome you to their freehouse to enjoy a friendly, warm atmosphere, local real ales, and a natter with the locals.

Why not come and see our newly renovated function room/skittle alley, which underwent an extensive refurbishment over the summer and is now available to hire for special occasions, parties and events?

Honiton Christmas Carnival Saturday December 2nd

THE ANNUAL Honiton Christmas Carnival will be making its way up the High Street on Saturday, December 2nd, starting at 5.30pm prompt.

The procession will be starting at Ottery Moor Lane and the High Street will be closed off at 5pm.

This carnival is a fun event when everyone is out to have a good time and get into the Christmas spirit.

All the entries will be decked out for Christmas including the Honiton royalty float which will be escorted by carnival committee members dressed like a variety of Christmas characters.

Come along and enjoy the sights and sounds of Christmas and get the festive season off to a great fun start and don't forget to bring along your loose change to put in the buckets and help local good causes.

Bearhouse Alpacas

Trekking With Bearhouse Alpacas

LOOKING for something unusual to do with the kids this season? Why not book an alpaca trek at Bearhouse Farm in Sidbury, East Devon and enjoy a walk in our beautiful countryside in the company of these delightful, inquisitive camelids?

Treks of approximately two hours, tailored to suit individual requirements, are run from the farm in the Roncombe Valley and follow the bridleways around the farm, situated in an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty.

Treks have continued throughout the winter, weather permitting and Alpaca Trekking vouchers as Christmas and birthday gifts are very popular. Birthday parties have become a regular event for adults and children, but small group bookings with a minimum of two people are just as much fun. We charge £20.00 per adult and £10.00 for children.

Alpacas produce one of the most desirable natural fibres in the world as their fleeces are exceptionally fine, light, soft and extremely warm. Bearhouse Farm sell a range of luxurious alpaca socks at affordable prices and have their alpaca fibre spun into wool in several colours. Vouchers for wool and socks can also be produced as Christmas gifts.

Planning your wedding for next year? Yes! You can have alpacas at your photo shoot!

Axcess Electric Bikes

HAS the motor car with a petrol or diesel engine reached its zenith? European cities are starting to ban diesel vehicles and employers are beginning to restrict car parking spaces for those who live within 5 miles of their work place. As time goes by, more households will realise the benefit of having a small, convenient, electrically assisted vehicle in the garage for short trips, ease and recreation.

If you enjoy green living, having fun, getting out in the fresh air, exercise and saving money, then there really is no 'cheating' with an e-bike. An electric bike is simply a form of assistance that means that you won't have to struggle uphill!

Electric bikes are actually encouraging people of all ages to get active and all they do is make the ride smoother and more enjoyable. It's all a matter of how much assistance you desire on the day.

Axcess-electric-bikes in Honiton have been specialising in electric bikes for 7 years, and so they can prove that the bikes also last well. Peter Blackman, Managing Director says "We know they are still going strong, because we see them for service every year. Others have been traded in for a new models, refurbished and sent on their way again. The ability to supply spares for older models is absolutely vital"

Eriskay & Camargue

Setting the standard for elegance and ride quality

- 700C wheels for a smoother ride
- 13 Ah battery in the frame for long tours and better balanced bike
- Redesigned motor and rider computer. Puts you in control
- Throttle works to 15mph when pedals turning for an easy ride

Shoobridge Funeral Services

Shoobridge Funeral Services named runner up for Regional Funeral Planner of the Year Award

HONITON and Exeter funeral directors Shoobridge Funeral Services have been named a runner-up for the best small pre-paid funeral planner in the South West region at this year's Funeral Planner of the Year Awards. The event was orchestrated by one of the UK's market-leading funeral plan providers, Golden Charter.

Hosted by the BBC's Dan Walker, the awards mark the biggest annual gathering of independent funeral directors in the UK with this year's event taking place at the Park Plaza London Riverbank Hotel.

Paul Shoobridge, CEO of Shoobridge Funeral Services, said, "This not only recognises the hard work our team has put in again this year, but endorses our absolute belief in a marketing process that can save the consumer money but is primarily designed to put the client in charge of his or her own future funeral, whilst giving their families and loved ones peace of mind at possibly the most difficult time they will experience in their lives."

Malcolm Flanders, Golden Charter's Director of Funeral Director Sales, said, "These highly competitive awards are now in their 24th year and, each year, the standard increases."

"Funeral plans continue to grow in popularity, and the awards are more competitive than ever before. As independent funeral directors continue to set extremely high standards of service in all areas of their work, this award for runner up is well-earned proof that Shoobridge Funeral Services is among the very best in the region."

The Funeral Planner of the Year Awards focus on the achievements of independent funeral directors throughout the UK.

50 years in newspapers

philip@viewnews.co.uk

The day I was shunted off the road in Jo'burg

IN one of my previous '50 Years in Newspapers' columns I referred to the time I spent in South Africa where I co-wrote Rob Andrews' World Cup Diary in 1995.

I returned to South Africa the following year soon after the ANC came to power, a hugely significant time for the country which led to great expectations by the population that they could look forward to decent living conditions and more employment opportunities.

At the time I was working for Independent Newspapers run by Tony O'Reilly (now Sir Anthony O'Reilly), one of the world's most successful and charismatic businessmen. He was also a sporting hero in South Africa where, as an international rugby player for Ireland, he set the record number of tries scored on a British Lions tour.

Tony had already befriended Nelson Mandela before he was released from Robben Island after 27 years of incarceration. Much of the press in South Africa was owned by American publishers, not a satisfactory position for the ANC, and Tony's Independent group was well placed to acquire some of the country's main newspapers, including The Sowetan, The Johannesburg Star and The Cape Argus.

I was based in London and running Independent Sports Publications, a stable of football magazines and other sporting titles, and I was sent to Johannesburg to investigate the possibility of launching a similar portfolio in South Africa where football was watched by hundreds of thousands of enthusiasts.

In the early days of the ANC, Johannesburg was not the safest place to visit and I was holed up for some weeks in a very posh hotel, the Carlton Towers, rarely daring to stray outside the front door after dusk.

One of my tasks was to make a presentation on the football mag concept to the equivalent of South Africa's WH Smith. They were located on the outskirts of Jo'burg on a trading estate. These were in the days before mobile phones had really caught on and laptops had not been invented. I was making my presentation using a carousel of slides, carried in a pilot's case.

I booked a cab from the hotel to the trading estate, about half an hour's journey, and told the driver that if he collected me around 5pm I would give him a generous tip in Rands.

The presentation went well and the cab driver turned up on time. I have to say it was doubtful whether the taxi would have passed its MOT, and the cabbie was driving bare foot.

On the way back into central Jo'burg the driver stalled the engine in rush hour traffic. He kept turning it over and turning it over and I tried to explain to him by doing this he was flooding the engine. Suddenly there was a loud speaker behind us shouting instructions. It was a police car, driven by a white policewoman with a black colleague next to her.

■ CARLTON Towers in Johannesburg, where I stayed for several weeks while working in South Africa in the early 1990s, a long way from the narrow lanes of East Devon

She made it quite clear to the taxi driver, now in a state of panic, that if he did not move she would shunt him off the road. And that's exactly what she did, putting her police vehicle into reverse before driving full pelt into the back of the taxi which ended up on the kerb, with me shouting "holy st!"

The driver got out and lifted the bonnet and soon a crowd gathered around the car. After about ten minutes I realised the cab driver had done a runner and there I was, the only white man for miles, or so it seemed, stranded in the failing light on an industrial estate with no phone and carrying a large case.

Fortunately, the Carlton Towers was one of the tallest buildings in downtown Jo'burg and I could just make it out in the failing light. But it was a good two-mile walk, under concrete flyovers and through crowded markets. My pace quickened (as well as my heartbeat) the nearer I got to the hotel. At one time I convinced myself I was being followed by a very unsavory looking character.

When I got to the hotel's entrance I was virtually running and carried on doing so into the bar where I spent most evenings and got to know the bartender well.

"You look awful, Mr Evans," he said, "what's happened?"

I recounted the story and without being asked he poured a very large brandy which I downed in one!

"You are one lucky dude, Mr Evans, we might never have seen you again."

My experiences in South Africa were not all so terrifying. True, Jo'burg was a bit of a tinder-box and most nights I could hear guns being fired in the streets, where there were several murders. I also visited Durban where I met up with John and Joyce Oldfield, who had emigrated to South Africa from Lyme Regis, and I absolutely loved Cape Town where I stayed in Kitchener's former headquarters under Table Mountain.

But I did have just one more disturbing experience whilst in Johannesburg. I was

I booked a taxi and checked this time that the driver was wearing shoes. Later in the evening the driver collected me from the house in a smart, gated community and drove me back down into the city.

As we were going down a hill towards traffic lights, the driver locked the doors and sped up. I immediately asked him what was going on and he replied "you'll see in a minute".

As we came to a crossroads the driver went straight through the red light and I got a glimpse of two guys standing with rifles as we sped by.

"If we stopped, you would be dead now," said the driver somewhat menacingly.

It occurred to me when I eventually returned home that when I was a young reporter speeding around the lanes of East Devon in my little A35, never did I think that one day my career would take me into one of the most dangerous but enchanting countries in the world.

In my next '50 Years In Newspapers' column I will tell how I thought I was going to be shot by one of my own staff brandishing a double-barrelled shotgun in the East End of London.

invited to a posh cocktail party in one of the more salubrious parts of Jo'burg, which was attended by Thabo Mbeki, who went on to become Nelson Mandela's successor as President of the ANC.

Christmas music down the ages

SEATON Choral Society will present a splendidly varied programme this year for their Christmas concert at Seaton's Gateway on December 10th. The title 'Christmas Cheer Year by Year' suggests some time travelling; the first piece to be heard will be a beautiful fourteenth century two-part song, 'Blessed be thou, heaven's Queen', conjuring up a time of austerity perhaps, rather than the bacchanalian feasting of modern times! Items by Orlando Gibbons, Mozart, Elgar and the seventeenth century French composer Marc-Antoine Charpentier follow, forming the first half of the evening.

Charpentier had the misfortune to be working in Paris at the time when the notoriously jealous and scheming Jean-Baptiste Lully was holding musical sway at Versailles for Louis XIV. Lully dictated the rules of musical practice, the number of musicians allowed for certain occasions, and generally made life insufferable for his peers. Nevertheless, Charpentier's talent, and the fact that he had a sympathetic employer in the person of the Duchesse de Guise, enabled him to write, successfully and over a long period, a wealth of both church and stage music in spite of Lully's antagonism. In his sparkling 'Messe de Minuit' - Midnight Mass - he originated the idea of adapting a number of folk carols to fit various parts of the Mass, and then composing new material to bind the work together. The result is a delightful piece which combines the elegance and sprightliness of France with the grace and warmth of Italy, the latter quality gained from the composer's earlier study in Rome with Carissimi.

The second half of the concert begins with two great Bach chorales and continues with a collection of well-known carols including 'A great and mighty Wonder, In the bleak midwinter' and roars to a snowy conclusion with 'Jingle Bells' and the triumphant Handel tune 'Joy to the World'.

Musical Director Ian Crew will conduct, while accompanying will be a small ensemble of recorder, oboe, violin, cello and chamber organ.

The performance will be on Sunday, December 10th at 4pm (doors open 3.30pm) at The Gateway, Fore Street, Seaton. Tickets £10 in advance (under 18s free) from The Gateway Box Office (Tel: 01297 625699) or £12 on the door.

Cantamus presents a programme of beautiful music for Christmastide

AS PART of the popular Hawkchurch Christmas Tree Festival, Cantamus will be performing at St John the Baptist Church, Hawkchurch on Tuesday, December 19th at 7.30pm (tickets £8 from Hawkchurch Community Shop or on the door). Last year the church was full to capacity, so music lovers are advised to buy tickets in advance.

The programme, 'Music for Christmastide', comprises more than 20 songs with a Christmas or advent theme, so there's sure to be something for everyone. There are works from the last six centuries, from an arrangement of the 15th-century 'Boar's head carol', and the 16th-century Spanish 'Riu, riu, chiu', to the upbeat, modern 'De virgine Maria', written in 2014 by Carl Rütti. The programme also includes a selection of pieces by the English composer Peter Warlock - 'The first mercy', 'Balulalow' and 'Bethlehem Down' - and two movements from Benjamin Britten's Ceremony of Carols.

Cantamus was formed in 2012 and gives three series of concerts each year across the area. The choir's musical director, Malcolm Knowles, is also an established singer and arranger, and his treatment of 'Baby born today' is included in the second half of the programme.

For more details of the choir's activities please visit www.cantamus-dorset.org

A fun show at the Beer Wurlitzer

IT WAS another fantastic musical performance on the Beer Wurlitzer by Matthew Bason on Saturday, November 25th and it was a fun afternoon too as the young and talented Matthew also played the keyboard and the accordion and sang beautifully. The audience loved him and gave him a standing ovation! Matthew was classically trained on the piano and began to teach himself the organ aged 12. He performs all around the UK and has toured in the USA, Canada, Australia and Europe but always enjoys coming to Beer and said "It is a privilege to be invited to play on this lovely organ."

Matthew is an inspiration and the Friends of the Beer Wurlitzer would welcome any young budding keyboard players who would like to 'have a go' on this historic instrument, the oldest in the UK. Our Technical Manager, Geoff Archer, would be pleased to hear from you on 01297 24708

2017 has been a highly successful year with every show delighting the audience who come from far and wide, and we thank them for their loyal support. Please make a date in your 2018 diary for the next show which will be on Saturday, March 10th with the ebullient Chris Powell and his lively programme of popular music.

The shows are held at the Congregational Church, Fore Street, Beer, EX12 3JQ, starting at 2.00pm ending approx. 4.30pm. Admission is £7.00 on the door, children free, and includes interval refreshments. For further information phone 01297 24892 or visit www.beerwurlitzer.org.uk.

Bah, humbug!

Dickens classic comes to The Beehive

SPEND an evening in the company of a mean, tight-fisted, squeezing, grasping, clutching old miser. Bah!

Watch horrified as Ebenezer Scrooge is haunted by four creepy ghosts (wooo-oooh) each one more terrifying than the last. Bah!

Sob at the bedside of a tiny, malnourished child riven with rickets. Bah!

In their inimitable style the team that brought you Great Expectations, Dracula and The Odyssey (Greek stuff!) will now take you on a grim journey through the dark, dismal streets of Victorian London, where Ignorance and Want cower together. Using Dickens' original words combined with anarchic comedy. Comedy? Bah!

Celebrate the festive season with a mesmerising one-man performance of Charles Dickens' timeless, transformative story: A Christmas Carol. Bah! And Bah!

A Christmas Carol comes to The Beehive, Honiton on Friday, December 1st at 7.30pm. Suitable for adults and older children (8+) For tickets or more information call 01404 384050 or visit the website at www.beehivehoniton.co.uk

Teddy Thompson to play at the Marine Theatre

SON OF legendary folk musicians Linda and Richard Thompson, Teddy is an acclaimed singer-songwriter with a career that has consistently attracted critical praise. His music is part folk and part pop. The New York Times calls his work "beautifully finessed." Teddy released his first, self titled album in 2000.

In 2002, Thompson played a key role in drawing his mother out of a 17-year musical retirement to record her landmark disc Fashionably Late, which he played on and co-produced.

In 2008, Thompson released the upbeat and highly acclaimed, A Piece of What You Need, which was declared "one of this year's best" by The Guardian and debuted at #9 in the UK's pop charts. A fifth album, Bella, was released February 2011 to much acclaim and led to touring the world with Elton John among other things.

In 2014 Thompson gathered his musical clan to release Family, one of the folk records of the year which garnered a multi page, in depth piece from The New York Times.

This is an unusual opportunity to hear Teddy Thompson perform in a small venue.

Teddy Thompson plays at the Marine Theatre on Wednesday, January 31st at 7.30pm. Tickets are £15 in advance, or £17 on the door. Advance tickets are available by calling 01297 442138 or visit www.marinetheatre.com

WHAT'S HAPPENING AT ILMINSTER ARTS CENTRE IN DECEMBER

THERE'S much to enjoy at Ilminster Arts Centre this December, from seasonal gift shopping to world-class music.

'Christmas Collection', our sumptuous showcase of craft by selected West Country makers, returns on 27 November. This annual exhibition is a great place to track down distinctive Christmas gifts, from unique jewellery and textiles, to beautifully finished wooden desk accessories, pretty but practical ceramics, adorable children's clothing, stylish soft furnishings, quirky wall art and much more. In the Gallery until 22nd December.

Running concurrently in the Gallery Café, the South Somerset Embroiderers' Guild celebrates its 40th anniversary with an exhibition of ruby-themed stitch craft. Enjoy a leisurely lunch, or home-baked mince pie, in the Arts Centre's buzzy café while admiring the skillful needlework of guild members.

As the year turns from old to new, our music programme offers a vibrant aural antidote to the long dark nights. Enjoy lively mainstream jazz on Friday 8 December with Steve Graham's 7-piece outfit Classic Jazz, or rediscover Dickens in Alan Barnes' jazz reimagining of A Christmas Carol, on Friday 15th.

There's still time to create handcrafted Christmas presents of your own in our December workshops. On Friday 1 Nicky Clarke will be leading her very popular day long Creative Watercolours masterclass, exploring the creative possibilities of the medium, or why not turn your textile trash into treasure at our Rag Rugs workshops on Friday 8th. Geraldine Field's Felting workshop on Friday 15th is another great opportunity to get crafting; the workshop runs from 10am-3pm – ample time to finish a project such as a cosy winter scarf. Don't forget our untutored workshops – our Reader's Group will meet on Friday 8th, Stitch Knit and Crochet on Thursday 21st while Clay Sculpture runs on Mondays.

with Abigail Willis

And if you like what you see at the Arts Centre, why not support us by volunteering with us? New volunteers are always welcome, and we have a variety of roles available – at concerts, in the café, craft shop and gallery, as well as admin roles in the office. Pop in for a chat if you're interested or pick up a new volunteers form from the front desk.

And as the year draws to a close we would like to say a big 'Thank You' to all our visitors, volunteers and staff who have supported Ilminster Arts Centre over the past year. You truly put the 'heart' into 'art'!

The Arts Centre will close for the Christmas break at 12noon on Saturday 23rd December and will reopen on Tuesday 2 January from 9.30am.

Happy Christmas!

Dickens goes jazz!

Charles Dickens' much-loved Christmas classic gets an unusual musical makeover at Ilminster Arts Centre on Friday, December 15th, with Alan Barnes' jazz interpretation of 'A Christmas Carol'.

Readings from the original Dickens' tell the story, and after each scene the eight virtuoso musicians who comprise the Alan Barnes Octet bring the characters and scenes to life, switching audiences from hilarity to pathos with a skill that would have done credit to Dickens himself.

A gruff baritone sax plays Scrooge, his lost love Belle is a lyrical alto, Bob Cratchit is a cheery clarinet and Marley's ghost walks in the person of a swinging trombone. Just as Scrooge's ghosts take him on a tour of his life, so the movements of this suite seem each to have a benevolent presiding ghost, celebrating the spirit of jazz greats past and present.

An entertaining family night out for all – and a must for jazz fans!

The Alan Barnes Octet perform A Christmas Carol at the Ilminster Arts Centre at the Meeting House on Friday, December 15th at 8pm. Tickets are £25, available by calling 01460 54973 or online at the website at www.the-meetinghouse.org.uk

The David Hall

FOLK • ROOTS • ACOUSTIC • JAZZ • BLUES • DANCE • THEATRE • FILM

NOVEMBER proved to be a very successful month for music at The David Hall - not just with regards to the quality of performances but also the large audience at each gig.

On Friday 3rd we welcomed back the highly accomplished and critically-acclaimed five-piece band, Jamie Smith's Mabon, for what was once again an exhilarating night of Celtic Roots music. This performance by such outstanding musicians left everyone breathless and begging for more. They are already booked for a return early in 2019!

On Saturday 11th, singer/songwriter Martyn Joseph returned for his fourth visit. Once again a near capacity crowd was left spellbound by Martyn's voice, jaw-dropping guitar playing and expressive and thought-provoking lyrics. He is one of the most charismatic and deep-thinking performers in Britain today. Another artist who will be back!

Gigspanner, which is one of the most innovative bands around, performed for us on Friday 17th November. This trio, which was formed by Steeleye Span's long-term fiddle player Peter Knight in 2013, is totally unique, featuring fiddle, guitar and percussion. A large audience loved every minute of their performance, which shows why this band is now one of the most sought-after units on the Folk circuit.

Finally, on Saturday 25th, another near-capacity crowd was mesmerised by the Bristol-based band, The Moscow Drug Club. This quintet recreates the style of 1930's Berlin cabaret and are like no other band I have ever seen. Featuring guitar, stand-up bass, accordion, trumpet and stunning female vocals, you begin to see why these 'top class' musicians are loved by all. Another band certain to return!

As Christmas approaches, there are certain things at The David Hall that change - and some that do not. One that has remained the same since 2005 is the Christmas performances of St Agnes Fountain. This wonderful quartet gives a mixture of humour and heartfelt renditions to everyone's favourite Christmas songs and carols. As is always the case, their performances on Monday 18th and Tuesday 19th December have already sold out. However, they have already been booked for two nights next year, so book early to avoid disappointment!

However, we start the month on Saturday 2nd with one of our 'Chance to Dance' specials. Visiting us for the first time is the London-based band, Tankus the Henge - who, since 2013, have played over 1,000 gigs all over the world. They combine wild showmanship and musical dexterity and their sound incorporates Rock, Funk, Blues, Ska, Roots and Gypsy Rhythms while their songs tell stories of wonder and woe. This will be a really special night and at the time of going to print there are very few tickets left.

Another group returning to The Hall is The Dylan Project, who will be with us on Saturday 16th. Take four of Britain's most talented Folk/Rock musicians and a unique singer, add the repertoire of a genius and you've got the recipe for a dream performance. The musicians in question are PJ Wright (electric and slide guitars), Gerry Conway (drums), Phil Bond (keys), Dave Pegg (bass), fronted by the wonderful Steve Gibbons. This is another chance for you to see this legendary band perform in our 'special space.'

Not to be missed!

May I take this opportunity to wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year and I hope to see you in 2018 for what will be another year of top quality music, films, drama and much more at The David Hall.

Pete Wheeler, Petherton Arts Trust

Also in December

On Friday 1st December there will be a David Hall Quiz Night - A Support The David Hall Event. Enjoy a ploughman's supper and raise money for The David Hall at the same time. Tickets: £6 incl. supper. Advance booking only by Wednesday 29 November. Maximum of four per team.

On Friday 8th, Petherton Picture Show presents: Whisky Galore. A remake of the classic Ealing comedy. Stars Ellie Kendrick, James Como and Eddie Izzard.

Acoustic Night will be on Saturday 9th December, from 7.30pm - 11pm. All styles and forms of performance welcome - not just music. If you wish to perform please drop us an email at folk@chriswatts.org to secure a slot.

Last but not least - The David Hall's annual New Year's Eve Celebration Ceilidh will be on Sunday 31st December at 8.15pm, featuring Jigs for Gigs with caller Ian Ludbrook. Tickets: £17 includes a light supper. Booking essential by Friday 15 December.

Tickets can be booked and paid for via the website www.thedavidhall.org.uk They can also be reserved by calling 01460 240 340 or by e-mailing boxoffice@thedavidhall.org.uk

Advertiser's announcement

Peace on Earth?

ONE of the best known Christmas scenes in the Bible is of God's angel appearing to the shepherds in the fields outside Bethlehem and bringing news of the birth of God's own son - "Good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people", said the angel. Then, suddenly, a sensational sight - "A multitude of the heavenly host, praising God and saying, "glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace". (Luke 2)

But the global scene today is not peaceful. In fact any prospect of it becoming so seems to be disappearing fast. What hope is there that the angel's message of 52 generations ago will really happen?

Again, we must turn to the Bible to learn that God's purpose with the earth is still alive. Even the turmoil and fear which we see in the world are, themselves, signs that God's planned intervention will come before man destroys himself. What intervention? Jesus himself tells what to pray for.

"Our Father in heaven, Hallowed be Your name. Your kingdom come. Your will be done on earth as it is in heaven...." (Matthew 6:9)

When this prayer is answered the earth will be at peace - for ever.

Show of Hands to play two nights in Exmouth

THERE can't be many venues across the UK and beyond that British folk ambassadors Show of Hands have not already conquered with their inimitable delivery of sensational folk, roots and acoustic music. But 2017 sees them bring that magic to the most sacred of spaces - England's finest cathedrals.

During October and November, Steve Knightley and Phil Beer travel the length and breadth of England to fill our most ancient and iconic buildings with the sound of the people. Joined by Miranda Sykes, the award-winning trio blend the sharpest songwriting with unrivalled musicianship - an enduring recipe that never fails to captivate. Having sold out the Royal Albert Hall five times over, the formidable Show of Hands continue to dominate the UK folk scene, and now it's time for something a little different.

Steve says, "In 2010 we played a few landmark cathedrals, and it just... worked. There's something about the ambience, sanctity and rich history of a cathedral that lends itself perfectly to what we do. It's going to be a really special tour. We'll be bringing out some of the classics of course, but we're also excited to be able to showcase brand-new material in truly unique settings."

It's well-known that Steve and Phil are passionate about supporting emerging talent and have a knack for spotting a future star. So, in keeping with that tradition, special guest Kirsty Merryn joins the tour - a singer/songwriter who delights audiences with her dramatic yet introspective individual sound.

Show of Hands play live at Exmouth Pavilion on Thursday, November 30th and Friday, December 1st. Tickets are £24, available online at www.ledleisure.co.uk/exmouth-pavilion or by calling 01395 222 477.

Choir sings for charity

THE Axe Valley Community Choir have been very busy preparing a new repertoire for their charity concert on December 9th at The Minster, Axminster and for the 2018 season. Having had a very successful 2016/2017, in which they performed nine charitable concerts, they are delighted to have raised significant sums of money.

The choir also donates annually to charities of their choice and last year they were pleased to donate £500 to Seaton Friends of Hospicare at Home (cheque presentation pictured) and £500 to Dementia UK. The choir is currently in the process of choosing a charity or charities to donate to this year.

While all concerts are a joy for the choir, it is wonderful when a member of the audience writes a piece such as the following: Approximately 55 members of the choir performed a wonderful collection of songs. The programme of music was truly remarkable with a mixture of evocative ballads, West End Show music and up-tempo, foot-tapping popular numbers. The choir was led by their inspirational music director and accompanist, Edward Jacobs. The evening ended with an absolutely spine-tingling, beautiful arrangement of The Wind Beneath My Wings, and was followed by two encores and a standing ovation from the delighted audience. This was a truly enjoyable musical evening performed to a very high standard.

Tickets for the concert can be purchased at £8, with a glass of wine, at the door or from the Archway Bookshop Axminster.

The choir would welcome anyone who would like them to perform for their charity or would like to join the choir. For further information visit us on www.axevalleycommunitychoir.co.uk

Pulman's Property View

The key to finding your perfect home

Why a new bathroom or kitchen can pay dividends

WHETHER you're planning on selling up to relocate completely, upgrade, downsize, or merely interested in maximising your profit when the time is finally right for any of those ideas to come into play, it's worth knowing about the little things we can all do to add value onto your beloved home.

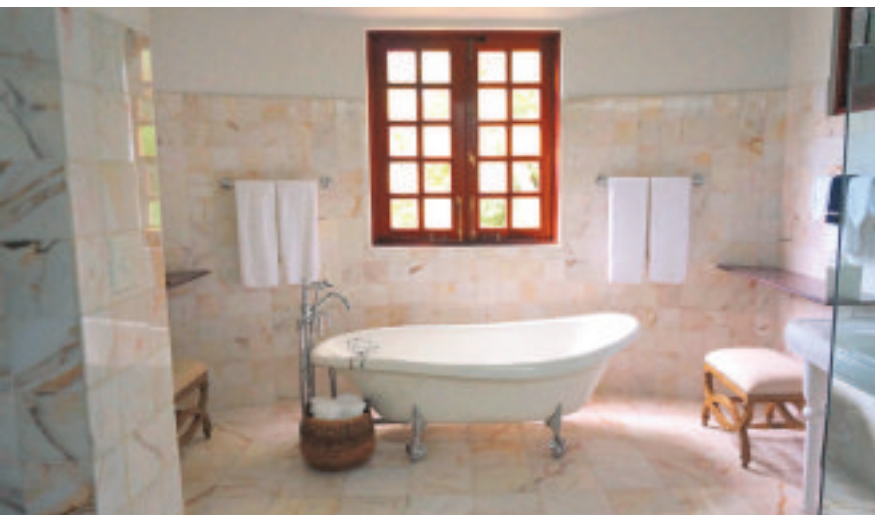

According to a survey by peer-to-peer platform Zopa, the most sure fire ways of boosting the resale price of your house is by adding a conservatory. With a potential (and rather staggering) 108% return on investment, the maths certainly adds up. Failing that, work on the garden- coming in at an average cost of £4,500-might also be tempting, with an 88% return.

Of course there's more money to be gleaned from larger projects- an extension, for example, can offer a 71% return on investment, with the average profit from a £20,000 outlay coming in at £14,000. Of course we're not all privileged enough to take such bold, not to mention expensive steps, so what can be done when you're not in a position, or an address, where these are possible?

Spending money on your roof, floors and carpets are all great ideas, but these are more practical, and may not deliver the kind of wow factor that gets sellers noticed against their peers. As such we'd recommend looking to change and modernise entire rooms, making it impossible for prospective buyers to overlook the work and effort that has gone into preparing the property for those viewings.

Considering renovating or updating the kitchen is a popular choice, and again the numbers speak for themselves. With an average price of £9,600, it's not always the cheapest route, but the median profit resulting from this investment currently sits at £4,750- just under 50% return for those willing and able to splash out. Hardly a figure to be sniffed at when you consider the UK's famously competitive property market.

The bathroom is another great area of the home to look at. Coming in far cheaper than a new kitchen, you can expect to fork out around £5,000, and whilst the return is therefore smaller- £2,350- the margin is almost as high, at 48%. In both instances, it's important to go for good quality fixtures and fittings, avoiding current trends as there's a significant chance you'll wind up with something destined to look dated in the long run. The best course of action being to think clean lines, minimal detailing, and a plain, fresh colour scheme that everyone can live with.

Driveways could be 'magic money tree' for hard-hit pensioners

THE 2017 Budget offered little respite for pensioners facing the squeeze from creeping inflation but those with an empty driveway are being offered a financial lifeline by YourParkingSpace.co.uk.

Indeed, pensioners can be the worst hit as inflation rises because their pension is often a 'fixed income', meaning that as prices go up their assets erode.

However, households at almost 30 cities and towns across the UK are earning on average £1,000 a year when listing their empty driveways on online parking portal YourParkingSpace.co.uk to people looking for parking spaces.

And with almost 13 million people in the UK at state pension age or older, then that's a lot of empty driveways that could be earning a tidy sum for their owners.

Harrison Woods, managing director at YourParkingSpace.co.uk, said: "A lot of pensioners are feeling the squeeze with inflation currently at 3 per cent. For many, matters are made worse with the ultra-low interest rates meaning little return on any savings they might have.

"Yet it's not all financial doom-and-gloom as empty driveways in desirable locations, such as near train stations, shopping centres, music and sports venues, are proving to be a magic money tree for many."

Indeed, research from YourParkingSpace.co.uk shows that even residents in Bolton, which is placed 50th in its driveway earning league table, are making £816 per year on average just by renting out an empty space.

Harrison added: "There's no time like the present to list your empty driveway on YourParkingSpace.co.uk and start making money like many other thousands of people in the UK.

"YourParkingSpace.co.uk has made it a very simple process. It's free to list a driveway or empty space and only takes a couple of minutes to register."

To list your empty driveway or space, or simply find out more information, visit www.yourparkingspace.co.uk

INFINITI unveils all-new QX50 ahead of LA Auto Show

AHEAD of the full unveiling of the new QX50 at the Los Angeles Auto Show next week we provide a first look at the mid-size SUV with its revolutionary technologies and stand-out design, built on an entirely new platform.

The QX50 is the first production vehicle ever to feature an engine with variable compression: INFINITI's new VC-Turbo petrol engine. This technology is seen as the next major step in optimising efficiency and emissions of the internal combustion engine, literally transforming between power and efficiency on demand.

The all-new platform has a front engine / front wheel drive configuration with an all-wheel drive option. Designed to set a new level of refinement, rigidity and interior space in the compact premium SUV segment.

In terms of design, the QX50's SUV aerodynamic exterior reinterprets INFINITI's distinctive design language of Powerful Elegance whilst continuing with its now familiar signature design cues. The artistic application of high quality materials, and advanced craftsmanship make the cabin as welcoming and comfortable as it is flexible.

The vehicle also incorporates INFINITI's pioneering ProPilot autonomous drive support technologies to assist the driver when accelerating, braking and steering during single-lane carriageway driving, whilst still allowing them to retain ultimate control over the car.

For more details about the new QX50 please follow: www.blog.infiniti.eu/en-gb/press-kits/qx50-press-kit.

Driving and your eyesight: Staying safe on the road

IF YOU drive, it goes without saying that you know you need your eyes on the road at all times. What you might not know is that DVLA has minimum eyesight standards that all drivers need to demonstrate so they can be allowed to drive.

So how do we decide on the vision standards for driving? DVLA's Vision Panel Secretary Dr Gareth Rees tells us more about his role and these standards.

I've been a doctor for 41 years and have been DVLA's Vision Panel Secretary for 10 years. My main role is to liaise between DVLA and the Honorary Medical Advisory Panel on Visual Disorders. The panel meets every 6 months and is made up of eyesight specialists, who provide DVLA with expert advice on how to apply and interpret the law when assessing fitness to drive.

Think your eyesight's getting worse? Act now

We all have busy lives, and sometimes we might overlook the signs that our eyes are not as good as they were. You might be finding it harder to judge distances, you might be struggling to read the newspapers, or it's getting more difficult for you to drive at night. These are just a few signs that your eyesight may be deteriorating.

In line with advice from optometrists, our advice is that you should get your eyes tested at least every 2 years. But if you recognise any of the signs above, don't wait – go and get checked out straight away with your optician or doctor. If they advise you to tell DVLA about your eyesight, you can do this online or by writing to us.

If you don't meet the eyesight standards, stop driving immediately and tell DVLA.

After you tell us about your condition

Don't worry – usually, most people who tell us they've got a medical condition are still allowed to drive.

If you have a 'progressive' (worsening) condition but can still meet the eyesight standards for driving, you may get a short-term licence rather than a full-term one. This type of licence lasts for 1, 2, 3 or 5 years and when it's due for renewal, we let you know.

It's better to be safe than sorry. So if you're in doubt, get it checked out.

Follow DVLA on Twitter, Facebook and LinkedIn and subscribe to our Inside DVLA blog.

New Ford Transit Custom - enhanced style, productivity and technology for Britain's best-selling van FORD'S new Transit Custom delivers a bold new design, an all-new interior and enhanced productivity to European businesses.

The new Transit Custom builds on the success of the outgoing model, which became the top-selling van in its segment in 2015 and contributed towards a record sales year in 2016 in the UK, and continues to lead the market this year with 86,400 sold September year-to-date. Available to order across Europe in December, new Transit Custom is scheduled for customer delivery from early 2018.

Powered by Ford's EcoBlue 2.0-litre diesel engine, Transit Custom has been re-engineered to offer significant new features and capabilities including a new ECONetic van variant delivering improved fuel efficiency and 148g/km CO2 emissions.

Sporting a bold new front-end design with three-bar Transit grille, Ford's one-tonne van provides drivers with the ideal mobile office environment, featuring a completely new cabin that offers best-in-class stowage, improved comfort and ergonomics, and easy connectivity with SYNC 3 or MyFord Dock options. Further technologies introduced to commercial vehicles for the first time include Intelligent Speed Assist.

"Transit Custom has been a runaway success since it was introduced, and this new version raises the game once more," said Hans Schep, general manager, Commercial Vehicles, Ford of Europe. "We have listened carefully to our customers, and delivered a one-tonne van that is even more stylish, even more productive, and packed with smart features."

The new generation Transit Custom sets the scene for Ford's next major commercial vehicle innovation, with the introduction of the zero-emission capable Plug-in Hybrid (PHEV) derivative scheduled to begin volume production in 2019.

The Transit Custom PHEV utilises an advanced hybrid system that targets a zero-emission range exceeding 30 miles, and features the multi-award-winning Ford EcoBoost 1.0-litre petrol engine as a range extender. The hybrid electric van will begin trials with fleet customers in London from December this year.

Introduced in late 2012, Transit Custom was the first of Ford's expanded all-new Transit line-up to go on sale - later joined by the Transit Courier, Transit Connect and Transit models - and was a key driver in Ford becoming Europe's No. 1 commercial vehicle brand in 2015, a leading position it has held ever since. Transit has also been the best-selling commercial vehicle in Britain since it was introduced in 1965.

Ford EcoBlue engine and new ECONetic variant

The new Transit Custom is powered by the state-of-the-art Ford EcoBlue diesel engine that was introduced to the range during 2016. With a choice of 105PS, 130PS and 170PS power ratings, the advanced new engine delivers significant cost of ownership and performance benefits compared to the previous 2.2-litre diesel, with fuel-efficiency improved by up to 13 per cent and low-end torque enhanced by 20 per cent.

The updated model also offers a new ECONetic variant that delivers 148g/km CO2 emissions and return a combined 49.6mpg, a further 6 per cent improvement over the most efficient current vehicle.

Available for the 300 Series short wheelbase van, the ECONetic variant features the 105 PS engine with a unique calibration and Auto-Stop-Start, low rolling resistance tyres, Ford's innovative Acceleration Control feature, and a fixed 62mph speed limiter.

The new Transit Custom continues to offer commercial vehicle operators the same outstanding breadth of capabilities from a vehicle line-up that includes two roof heights, two wheelbase options, a gross vehicle mass range from 2.6 tonnes to 3.4 tonnes offering payloads up to 1450kg, and bodystyles including van, kombi and double-cab-in-van.

The new model maintains the Transit reputation for delivering class-leading load-carrying ability, with innovative loadspace features such as the load-through hatch in the bulkhead for extra-long items, and the integrated roof rack that can be folded away when not in use.

Tigers stage rousing fightback

Hippos sunk by Alphas ♦ Colyton hit seven ♦ League chairman stands down

Saturday, November 25th
SW Peninsula League (D1E)

ILFRACOMBE 3
AXMINSTER TOWN 4
A STUNNING fightback at Marlborough Park on Saturday extended Axminster Town's unbeaten run to three matches and lifted them back up into the top eight of the South West Peninsula League table.

Things started badly for the Tigers as right back Craig Every nodded the ball into his own net. And they were breached again in the 10th minute when Cassian Blackmore netted from six yards.

The visitors halved their deficit on the half hour through Gary Spiller before player-manager Jon Hurford shuffled his pack at the interval bringing on Jamie Barfoot and Tony Pinder.

Initially, the hosts remained on course for the three points with Brady Sanders making it 3-1 from a set-piece in the 50th minute.

However, Ax weren't finished and the fightback began when Barfoot got on the scoresheet with 20 minutes remaining.

Nathan Warren then squared things up with his first goal of the season 10 minutes from time which set the stage perfectly for the highlight of the match – a magnificent 25-yard strike from Sam Dibling into the top corner which took his tally for the season into double figures and clinched the win for the Tigers.

A delighted Hurford told View Sport: "After a sloppy start it was a great achievement to come back from two goals behind and win, most teams would have folded but our spirit and determination saw us through."

"Jamie and Tony couldn't make it in time for kick off but as soon as they came on it injected us with more pace and energy."

Next up for Ax is Saturday's visit by bottom of the table LIVERTON UTD (3pm ko).

ALPHINGTON 5 HONITON TOWN 3
HONITON Town gave themselves a mountain to climb when they found themselves 3-0 down with only 23 minutes on the clock.

Lewis Couch got the Hippos up and running in the 35th minute and they were right back in the game when Ben Ede made no mistake from the penalty spot three minutes later.

Amazingly the scores were tied at 3-3 with 15 minutes to go when Blake Freemantle popped up with a 25 yard scorcher.

But the hosts rallied and two late goals saw off the Hippos' challenge.

Honiton, now turn their attention to the Throgmorton Devon Premier Cup and Saturday's visit by Plymstock United (1.30pm ko).

Beer Albion
(Premier and Div Four)
IT was a case of Black Saturday for Beer Albion Football Club as both their sides suffered defeats in the Macron Devon & Exeter League writes Richard Honnor.

In the Premier, Beer were beaten 5-2 by Witheridge Reserves. The Fishermen went a goal behind after 10 minutes but equalised shortly afterwards when Chris Long capitalised on an under-hit backpass.

Beer then conceded again just before half time and were always chasing the game.

They were caught on the break twice to go 4-1 behind before Simon Smith reduced the arrears towards the end but Withy restored their three-goal cushion to run out comfortable winners.

In Division Four, Beer Reserves suffered a shock 1-0 home defeat against St Martins Reserves writes Mike Adkin.

St Martins scored the decisive goal in the 15th minute through Ben Robinson.

Towards the end of the first half Taylor Rooke shot just wide and Jay Catley hit the crossbar with a long range effort.

The Fishermen were handed a lifeline in the 80th minute when Ed Karejev was brought down in the penalty area, only to dust himself down and blaze the resulting spot kick over the bar.

Match sponsor Chapple Family, Beer Beach picked defender Steve Howe as the best Beer player.

Next up for the Beer Reserves is a trip to Teignmouth Reserves, with the Fishermen's 1sts hosting Newtown where the match sponsor will be Bay View Guest House.

MILLWEY RISE 5 HALWILL RES 2
Division Five

THIS game didn't take long to burst into life writes Dick Sturch.

In the third minute Nathan Womersley latched onto a pass, outpaced his marking defender and laid the ball across goal for Shane Featherstone to force it home.

Halwill then rattled keeper Jack Bennett's crossbar with a shot in the 15th minute.

Millwey increased their lead in the 20th minute through Womersley and a few minutes later Tyler Warren bent a free kick into the net for the third goal.

Warren then provided the cross from which Featherstone headed Millwey into a 4-0 half time lead.

In the second half Halwill had a goal ruled offside before Oliver Richards and Mark Potter pulled two goals back, but Millwey eventually put the game to bed when Womersley netted after being put through by Featherstone.

Defender Nicky Lat took the Millwey MOM mantle.

HONITON TOWN 3RDS 3
OKEHAMPTON 9
Division Eight

HONITON Town thirds were thumped by a strong Okehampton side who had the benefit of no first team game.

Town took the lead on four minutes with a superb Karl Allen goal, but found themselves 4-1 down in 20 minutes and 8-1 on the hour.

Millstream Taxis Man of the Match Lewis Ede grabbed two great goals late on before the visitors got their ninth.

Round-up by Collin Goodwin & Howard Larcombe
FOLLOWING nine successive Premier Division defeats Hatherleigh Town are finally off the mark. The North Devon club came good 2-0 at home to fellow stragglers, Topsham Town.

Cronies went through the 500 League goals barrier in just their fifth season as they thumped Exwick Villa 7-2.

Heavitree United registered their first win under new manager Dan Jones with a 4-1 success at Seaton Town who also have a new management team in Josh French and Dave Perham following Brendon Willey's resignation while Uptonery won 5-1 at Newton St Cyres.

Cullompton Rangers produced the eye-watering result of the day in Division One, sweeping aside Lapford 8-1.

Leaders Exeter University were held 2-2 by Perry Street and only a late Ben Turner header at Davey Fort earned Lyme Regis a 2-1 win against bottom-of-the-table Alphington. Skipper Dom Rowe had earlier put the Seaside in front before Joe Boyne equalised before half time.

Colyton beat Bickleigh 7-1 with Will Richards helping himself to a hat-trick, and there were also goals for Jake Richards, Callum Somers, Nathan Maddocks and Mark Hancock.

Bampton remain top of Division Two after winning 3-1 at Axminster Town where Adam Cowling netted the late Tigers consolation.

Whipton & Pinhoe preserved their 100 per cent record in Division Four with a 12-1 thumping of Sampford Peverell.

Black Swan Town also racked up double figures in Division Five as they destroyed Dunkeswell 10-0, and Elmore have still to concede a League goal this season, although they could only manage a 1-0 win at home to Lyme Regis.

The Division Six match between Uptonery and Silvertown had to be abandoned after 76 minutes, with the home side leading 5-3, because of an injury to a Silvertown player.

Finally, goals from Charlie Cross and James Sweeney couldn't save Axmouth Utd as they crashed out of teh Bill Snee cup beaten 5-2 at home by Winchester.

Chairman stands down
THE Macron Devon & Exeter League were rocked in the week when chairman Roger Spray tendered his resignation.

Mr Spray, who took over the reigns in 1994, will continue in the role of treasurer for the time being. Roland Brown has taken over as acting chairman.

Captain's youngsters too hot for old boys!

scrum down rugby

Honours even

AXE CLIFF with Peter Motson
SENIORS' Captain Dave Bruce pitted a young and inexperienced team of eight up against a wily and talented team of mainly past captains in this annual match.

To help the old boys the match was reduced to 15 holes leaving out the long par fives and difficult 18th.

Once the young Captains team overcame it's nerves it gradually wore down the opposition to win 5½-2½. The winners for the Captains Team were: Dave Bruce beat Geoff Hughes;

Mike Jamieson bt Ron Bragg, David Evans bt Gilbert Cox by one-hole, Bill Polley beat

John Ashbolt but Pete Motson beat Nigel Tarr by two holes. Gerry Turner managed a creditworthy half with Rob Grove. The winners for the Past Captains were: Malcolm Glass beat Dave Sammons 1 up, and Bob Graham bt Ian Crawford 2&1. Nearest the pin was won by Ian Crawford (Capt's team) and Rob Grove (Past Capt's team).

The Seniors played their November Stableford Competition on Friday, results: Robbie Robinson (HC 19) 1st on countback with 37pts from Alan Morgan (HC 14). Brian Thompson (HC 12) was third with 36. Ron Bragg was the only player to score a two.

Last week was the first of the Ladies Winter league, 18-hole Stableford format when first place went to Stella Thompson with 32pts on countback from Anne Jarvis. Jill Wellington was third also with 32.

Last Wednesday six ladies ventured out to battle the fierce winds but only managed nine holes. All awarded a small gift from Lady captain Jo Donmall.

CRICKET ST THOMAS

with Bert Robinson

FORTY eight seniors took part in a Bowmaker discard competition last Monday.

The golfers took advantage of the benign conditions and registered some good scores with the new Vice Captain, Peter Spencer-Farr making his mark by leading his team to victory.

Result; 1st Peter Spencer-Farr; Rod Stevens & Terry Hackling 78 points, 2nd Martin Leigh; Mick Aldridge & Mark Everett 77, 3rd Bob White; R. Miller & Ian Housham 75.

The Bowmaker competition last Wednesday was attended by 24 seniors members who battled intermittent rain and swirling winds.

Result; 1st Bob Barrow; John Wandless & Iain Rowlands 75 points, 2nd Richard Hall; Terry Hackling & Ian Housham 72, 3rd Martin Leigh; Barrie Heath & Alan Davis 71.

Finally, 39 members took part in a three-man Texas scramble on Friday when a record score of 53.7 (gross score of 10 under par). Result: 1st Keith Branchflower; Danny Dowell & Frank Martin 53.7, 2nd James Hewitt; Nick Gabb & Dave Taylor 58.3, 3rd Roger Davis; Clive Fisk & Dave Taylor 60.0.

HONITON with Ann Desmoulin

THE Tuesday Mixed last week saw the return of a Rye Foursomes format where it is decided in advance whether the lady or the gent takes the second shot on the odd or even holes.

After both players have teed off, either ball can be selected and the second shot is taken by the designated player before continuing with alternate shots with the one ball.

In first place were Sue Ritchie & Ron Graham with 37 points. Danusia White & Bob Barnes came second (35) and Cathy Uttley & Mike Delaney took third (31).

A dozen ladies' pairs braved the wind (a three-club, one on some holes) to play in a 14-hole Greensomes Stableford. Although the course was very wet in parts, some good scores were posted.

The winners were Cathy Pawley &

Heather Clarke with 25 points, 2nd Vera Richardson & Stephani Barnes (23), 3rd Brenda Hyde & Chris Pearce (22), 4th Carole Booth & Chris Major.

There were no entries for the nine-hole competition.

Meanwhile, 65 seniors turned out on Friday for a Texas Scramble.

The resultant scoring was unusually good. Leading the pack were Mike Ward, Phil Wall & David Lee with a net 60.9. Close behind on 61.9 were Duncan Hepburn, Mike Delaney & Kit Barker followed by Barry Rogers, Brian Bird & Pete Morgan (62.7). Nigel Broadbent, David Anderson & Chris Street were fourth (64.3). Larry Goodliffe had the only two and won 42 balls.

Crediton Ladies 5

Chard 5

CHARD Ladies travelled to Crediton full of confidence after last week's victory over Swanage & Wareham for a match against a development team that was expected to be an ideal follow up fixture.

Chard began strongly with lots of possession, leading to a build-up of pressure on the Crediton line but the hosts tackling and defence was very strong.

After repeated charges by Elaine Stainer, Sasha White and scrum half Jade Watts, the Crediton line was finally breached from short range by Jo Truscott.

Chard continued to dominate in the scrum, however Crediton won the battle in the lineout to give parity from the set pieces.

The hosts gained more possession as the half wore on, winning many of the breakdowns, allowing the backs to run at the Chard defence and only try saving tackles by Kerry Harris and Georgia Adams kept the away line intact. Finally, with the last move of the half, an overlap ended with Ellen Pierce going over to level the scores.

Chard's dominance of the scrum was restricted in the second half with the implementation of under 19 rules to ensure safety, which resulted in the home side winning their own ball in both set pieces.

The forwards continued to drive and a rearranged back line made inroads but were not able to take advantage. Sarah Kneeshaw, Sasha White and Mel Banfield once again were the main threats, but in the last quarter the Crediton backs began to dominate.

For most of the last 10 minutes, the home side threw waves of attacks at the Chard defence but were met by wholehearted tackling by Liz George, Adams and Harris.

At the final whistle, a draw was the fair result.

Forward of the match Chelsea Bale, Back Liz George, Player Sarah Kneeshaw.

Next match at home to WINScombe on December 17th.

Local runners battle gruelling Blister

HONITON RUNNING CLUB

with Judy Davey
BICTON College was the venue for the Bicton Blister and Lite races last Sunday. The BLISTER is a 10-mile multi-terrain race mainly on Woodbury Common.

Jim Cole won the race in the brilliant time of 1 hour and 1 second. First back for HRC was Ben Stone who came 8th in 1:05. Gavin Rice followed coming 80th in 1:19:17 with Steve Davey hot on his heels coming 1 place and 6 seconds later.

Other Honiton results; Steve Selley 87th 1:19:56, Mark Dallyn 89th 1:20:21, Richard Harvey 96th 1:20:43, Judy Davey 126th 1:23:48 winning her age category, Howard Bidmead 137th 1:24:18 2nd in age category, Roger Saunders 146th 1:25:21, Jo Davey 152nd 1:26:11, Jennie Sleeman 239th 1:35:40 2nd in category, Rebecca Stevens 246th 1:36:37, Kathy Layzell 326th 1:45:22, Pip Vanham 376th 1:52:49.

There were 439 finishers.

Also on offer was the BICTON LITE. At 13, Jasmine Stone is too young for the Blister so took on the Lite coming 3rd lady in 36:15 and 12th place overall.

The winner was Ben Sheridan (31:38). There were 140 finishers.

CHARD ROAD RUNNERS

with Paul Masters

NINA Wagstaff represented CRR's at the Avon Valley Runners' WILTSHIRE HALF MARATHON based out of Edington Nr Trowbridge.

Nina, having been suffering with a virus, took the gamble to run this popular event but crossed the line in 1h 31m 50s 53/336 and 2nd in Category.

Elsewhere, Wayne Loveridge finished 3rd in a field of 439 in the 10-mile BICTON BLISTER recording a time of 1h 03m 26s.

AXE VALLEY RUNNERS

with Dave Mutter

IT was a cracking day for a cracking run at the BICTON BLISTER (10 miles) and Bicton Lite (5 miles) with 579 runners completing the mostly off road route.

There was considerable AVR success with the men's team of Duncan Staddon, Terry Emmett, Matt Hewer & Chris Polley finishing 3rd and the

Ilminster in last 16 in National Trophy

HONITON with Julie Grant

To win by 18 shots away at TORQUAY UNITED was a real achievement Rosemary Hiron, Yvonne Williams, Joan Heard & Yvonne Rayner who ran out 25-7 winners in their Foxlands game and with another rink winning at home by five for an 86-86 draw and five points for each club.

Unfortunately, the two ladies teams were not successful in the national Over 60s Mason competition losing 38-35 to ISCA and 39-28 to NORTH DEVON.

Meanwhile, a mixed friendly team went down 58-45 at Madeira.

Fortunes were better at home as Honiton had two good wins, 85-50 against the outdoor bowlers from CHARDSTOCK (top rink Joyce Granger, Norman Baxter, Garry Osborne & Carol Armitage 35-11) and 50-21 against BUDLEIGH, Honiton (best rink: Lindsey Howell, Bob Mackintosh, Steve Howell & Ted Cox).

ILMINSTER with Des Maull

ILMINSTER defeated VICTORIA (Street) 87-56 on Sunday in the Egham Trophy a four-rink mixed knockout competition winning on all rinks. Details: Home, Sam Wall, Sue Spurway, Levi Hembrow & Ian Lightfoot 23-17; Alison Atyeo, Debbie Hawker, Pete Mattravers & Will Anderson 21-14; Away, Angie Thompson, Sue Donovan, Steve Turner & Rob Paxton 16-10; Sarah Lightfoot, Heather Grinter, Alan Holt & Matt Hamilton 27-15. Ilminster will now play Charlie Dunbar in December.

In the Somerset & Devon Mixed League Ilminster lost 58-21 against TAUNTON. Details: Steve Peasland, Debbie Hawker, Dave Pugh & Eric Keitch 13-25; Brian Welch, Norma Pugh, Rod Parkin & June Checketts 8-33.

In the Mason Trophy Ilminster Ladies lost on both rinks against TAUNTON DEANES. Details: Home, Heather Sims, Anthea Hall, Betty Marner & Heather Grinter 16-14; Away, Val Dargue, Sue Donavon, Norma Pugh & Monica Woodland 9-24.

Top bag for Baz

WITH the river low and clear it was a struggle for most as 11 Ilminster AA members fished round four of the IBC Winter League on the Isle on Sunday.

Baz Morgan (Somerset Angling) made the most of fancied peg 120 with 7lb 10oz of dace and chublets, Jamie Rich (Against Men and Fish) took second with two chub and some quality roach for 5lb 12oz from peg 124a at Isle Brewers, and Stuart Aplin (Ilminster) was third with a lovely chub of 4lb 4oz from peg 110 at Redbridge.

After four matches Graham Field still leads the league with three points followed by John Dursley (6) and Jake Woodard and Adie Bishop (both 7).

Sections: A - Jake Woodard (Ilminster) 11b 7oz, B - John Dursley (Enterprise Angling) 4lb 1oz.

The next match is the Christmas Fayre on Sunday (venue to be confirmed), the draw will be at Ilminster Bowling Club between 8.30 and 9am with breakfast at 8am.

Severalls Jubilee Bowls Club recently held their presentation lunch at Hornsbury Mill. The trophies, sponsored by Ward & Sibley of Yeovil, were presented by the 2017 Somerset Bowls Association Men's President Ken Leamon.

ladies football

Tigers ladies one year old

AXMINSTER Town FC Ladies celebrated their first anniversary of their reformation with a specially made Tiger cake following Sunday's 3-0 league home defeat against Budleigh Salterton.

Team manager Martin Keightley said: "I'm so proud of the ladies."

"We now have 23 players on the books with 18 regularly attending training and games."

"We knew the season would be tough, but we're not bottom and we improve in every game."

"We're looking forward to a second half of the season when we hope all our hard work will continue to pay off."
